The Elephant Man: A quest for dignity

The Elephant Man by Bernard Pomerance, directed by Julian Firth, stars Ken Ruta, Jeff Hayenga, and Concetta Tomei. Playing at the Shubert Theatre through mid-January.

The Elephant Man's story is indeed true. Merrick was a featured sideshow attraction at various health institutions. He was the first woman ever to talk to him. He is Janacek of the naive Merrick; he adds a deal of candidate in his portrayal. He portrays a great deal of make-up, but conveys his innocence of the characters, in emphasizing the strength and serve to set off, and enhance. The Elephant Man is an extremely powerful play, and its remarkable cast does it complete justice. If time and money constraints allow you to see just one show this year, this should be it.

Linda Schaff

OFFICIAL T-SHIRTS

GIANT MICROCOMPUTER WAREHOUSE SALE!

We are opening our warehouse doors at 270 Third Street in Cambridge, Mass. (3 blocks North of Harvard Square). We'll be open 7 days a week, from 10am to 6pm. We will provide service to you a selection of Computers, Calculators, Printers, Terminals, and Peripherals at prices too low to print. (Many items below cost.)

COMPUMART

Industrial Distributor of Apple, Atari, Commodore and other State-of-the-Art microcomputers.

Door Price.

617-491-2700

TITANIC RECORDS

are now available at the Tech Coop.

The December 1980 issue of Stereo Review gave the honors "Best of the Month" and "Recording of Special Merit" to:

The American Brass Quintet: American music of the mid-19th century performed on period instruments. "Inigurating...feastive...virtuosity"

The Boston Museum Trio: J. S. Bach, complete works for violin and harpsichord performed on the 1693 Stradivari baroque violin and other instruments from the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

"Performance: exquisite...Recording: superb"