Reagan heckled in Canada — President Reagan was greeted by a mixture of intense heckling and sporadic applause during his recent visit to Canada. Adult spectators in the greeting party heckled, chanting "Acid Rain the Law of the Sea office. No official explanation for the action was given, but rumor has it that the two diplomats had been eliminated from official participation in the United Nations Law of the Sea negotiations last Saturday.

The two restored negotiators were Raymond A. Meyer and Theodore Wilkinson, both deputy directors of the US State Department. A warming trend will begin on Sunday with highs in the low to middle 40's. Cooler and windy conditions will return Monday to Tuesday, with winds gusting 25 to 30 miles per hour at times. A warming trend will begin tomorrow night and continue into early next week. A high pressure system is expected to move into the area early Monday, bringing dry and sunny conditions into Tuesday and Wednesday. The rise in temperatures should continue into next week, with highs in the low to middle 60's Wednesday and Thursday. The next system is expected to move in Friday night, bringing a chance of showers and thunderstorms Saturday.

The youngsters obliged. Reagan heckled in Canada — World

The infirmary building at 350 Massachusetts Avenue will be converted to provide additional housing for graduate students beginning in the fall of 1981, according to Associate Dean for Student Affairs Robert A. Sherwood. Sherwood said the Architectural Housing Group (AHG), a long-range planning committee for renovating existing buildings, has been hearing a lot about it from students. Sherwood indicated a long-term goal of housing for half the graduate population as part of the renovation process. He noted that 27 percent of graduate men and 35 percent of graduate women sign up, there may be quite a bit of demand for this housing. Sherwood said the administration has been hearing a lot about it from students. Sherwood indicated a long-term goal of housing for half the graduate population as part of the renovation process.

The Dean's Office (7-133) is currently accepting applications from undergraduate dorm residents with less than 8 terms of residence who would like to sign up to live at 500 Memorial Drive in September, 1981. This new 352 bed dorm will be open for both men and women. There will be at least one “women’s single sex section” on one floor, and depending upon the number of upperclasswomen who sign up, there may be other co-ed sections of the dorm.

The infirmary building at 350 Memorial Drive will be converted to provide additional housing for graduate students beginning in the fall of 1981, according to Associate Dean for Student Affairs Robert A. Sherwood. Sherwood said the Architectural Housing Group (AHG), a long-range planning committee for renovating existing buildings, has been hearing a lot about it from students. Sherwood indicated a long-term goal of housing for half the graduate population as part of the renovation process. He noted that 27 percent of graduate men and 35 percent of graduate women sign up, there may be quite a bit of demand for this housing. Sherwood said the administration has been hearing a lot about it from students. Sherwood indicated a long-term goal of housing for half the graduate population as part of the renovation process.

The Dean's Office (7-133) is currently accepting applications from undergraduate dorm residents with less than 8 terms of residence who would like to sign up to live at 500 Memorial Drive in September, 1981. This new 352 bed dorm will be open for both men and women. There will be at least one “women’s single sex section” on one floor, and depending upon the number of upperclasswomen who sign up, there may be other co-ed sections of the dorm.

The infirmary building at 350 Memorial Drive will be converted to provide additional housing for graduate students beginning in the fall of 1981, according to Associate Dean for Student Affairs Robert A. Sherwood. Sherwood said the Architectural Housing Group (AHG), a long-range planning committee for renovating existing buildings, has been hearing a lot about it from students. Sherwood indicated a long-term goal of housing for half the graduate population as part of the renovation process. He noted that 27 percent of graduate men and 35 percent of graduate women sign up, there may be quite a bit of demand for this housing. Sherwood said the administration has been hearing a lot about it from students. Sherwood indicated a long-term goal of housing for half the graduate population as part of the renovation process.

The infirmary building at 350 Memorial Drive will be converted to provide additional housing for graduate students beginning in the fall of 1981, according to Associate Dean for Student Affairs Robert A. Sherwood. Sherwood said the Architectural Housing Group (AHG), a long-range planning committee for renovating existing buildings, has been hearing a lot about it from students. Sherwood indicated a long-term goal of housing for half the graduate population as part of the renovation process. He noted that 27 percent of graduate men and 35 percent of graduate women sign up, there may be quite a bit of demand for this housing. Sherwood said the administration has been hearing a lot about it from students. Sherwood indicated a long-term goal of housing for half the graduate population as part of the renovation process.

The infirmary building at 350 Memorial Drive will be converted to provide additional housing for graduate students beginning in the fall of 1981, according to Associate Dean for Student Affairs Robert A. Sherwood. Sherwood said the Architectural Housing Group (AHG), a long-range planning committee for renovating existing buildings, has been hearing a lot about it from students. Sherwood indicated a long-term goal of housing for half the graduate population as part of the renovation process. He noted that 27 percent of graduate men and 35 percent of graduate women sign up, there may be quite a bit of demand for this housing. Sherwood said the administration has been hearing a lot about it from students. Sherwood indicated a long-term goal of housing for half the graduate population as part of the renovation process.

The infirmary building at 350 Memorial Drive will be converted to provide additional housing for graduate students beginning in the fall of 1981, according to Associate Dean for Student Affairs Robert A. Sherwood. Sherwood said the Architectural Housing Group (AHG), a long-range planning committee for renovating existing buildings, has been hearing a lot about it from students. Sherwood indicated a long-term goal of housing for half the graduate population as part of the renovation process. He noted that 27 percent of graduate men and 35 percent of graduate women sign up, there may be quite a bit of demand for this housing. Sherwood said the administration has been hearing a lot about it from students. Sherwood indicated a long-term goal of housing for half the graduate population as part of the renovation process.

The infirmary building at 350 Memorial Drive will be converted to provide additional housing for graduate students beginning in the fall of 1981, according to Associate Dean for Student Affairs Robert A. Sherwood. Sherwood said the Architectural Housing Group (AHG), a long-range planning committee for renovating existing buildings, has been hearing a lot about it from students. Sherwood indicated a long-term goal of housing for half the graduate population as part of the renovation process. He noted that 27 percent of graduate men and 35 percent of graduate women sign up, there may be quite a bit of demand for this housing. Sherwood said the administration has been hearing a lot about it from students. Sherwood indicated a long-term goal of housing for half the graduate population as part of the renovation process.