I
I

Studies, History, Musicology, Anthropology, Archaeology. All papers may be written in English, French, or Spanish. The Tech reserves the right to withhold prizes if no entries are submitted, and makes no endorsement of groups or activities listed.

Announcements

Since November 15 is Drop Date, the Registrar's Office would like to remind students that correction cards will not be accepted without all of the necessary signatures. You are urged to obtain all signatures well before deadlines to avoid having to petition the CAP for approval to make late change. If your advisor is unavailable, contact your academic advisor, graduate office or department headquarters. Freshmen should go to the Undergraduate Academic Support Office, room 7-483, or via US mail to "News Notes, MIT Branch, Cambridge, MA 02139." Notes run on a space-available basis only; priority is given to official Institute announcements and MIT student activities. The Tech reserves the right to withhold prizes if no entries are submitted, and makes no endorsement of groups or activities listed.

Lectures

John Fritz, Professor of Anthropology at the University of New Mexico, will speak on "Vijana gara: A Medieval Hindu Imperial City" at 5:30 pm, November 15, in room 3-133. The lecture is sponsored by The Aga Khan Program for Islamic Architecture.

A lecture delivered entitled "Ex-Spouses and the Triangles Within Them" will be held on Monday, November 15, at 8pm at the Institute for Remarriage and Stepfamilies, 299 Walnut St., Newtonville. The focus will be on the role of the former spouse and the continuing relationship between the previously married couple as it effects the stepfamily. A short presentation, including suggestions for managing a family with more than two parents in it, will be given by the Institute's Director of Education. Questions and answers will follow. Admission is free. For more information, call 964-6953.

"La mujer y la politica en Espana" will be given by Lydia Falcos, Spanish feminist and author, and will be given Tues day, November 16, at 8pm in room 4-159. Open to the public. Sponsored by MIT Foreign Languages and Literatures. For more information, call x3-4771.

Joseph Elderidge, Director of the Washington Office for Latin America, will lecture Tuesday, November 16, in Coolidge Hall, 137 Cambridge St., Cambridge, Seminar room 2, Harvard University. This is a reading of the CLAS-CFIA Latin America lunch seminar series. The lecture entitled "Activism for Human Rights in Reagan's Washington: Experience and Prospects," is sponsored by the Pan American Society of New England.

The Creative Writing Program and English Department of Boston University will present Sharon Olds, poet and author of S ea Sick and the forthcoming The Dead and the Living, reading from her works on Wednesday, November 17, 5:30 pm in room 315, George Sherman Union, Boston University. The reading is free and open to the public. For further information, call 353-2510.

Gustavo Colonos, Fellow at the Center of International Relations, Harvard University will present an analysis of the economic and political situation of Venezuela from the Presidency of Carlos Andres Perez to the present Wednesday, November 17, 6pm. Emphasis will be placed on the petroleum issue and interaction with the rest of the country. Also, a brief comparison of the Venezuelan experience will be made with regard to other Latin American countries, e.g. Mexico. An informal reception will follow serving Mexican coffee. Donations: $2.00, non-Member $3.00, Students w/ID $1.00. The lecture is sponsored by the Pan American Society of New England.

"In Corporate Flight Destroys America?". Presentation by John K. Blumlo and Bennett Harrison, co-authors of "The Deindustrialization of America," will speak at Cambridge Forum, 3 Church Street, Harvard Square, free.

On Thursday, November 18, noon, there will be a luncheon to be followed at 12:30 pm by talk and discussion led by Tufts University Professor Benjamin Cohen on "Arab Investments in the United States" at Zionists House, 17 Commonwealth Ave, Fce. Please call 267-3600 in advance to reserve lunch. Sponsored by New England Zionist Federation and the Jewish Cultural Center.

Lester Thourow, MIT economist, will speak at a dinner sponsored by Mass. ADA (Americans for Democratic Action) on Sunday, November 21, 6:30 pm, in Newton. Thourow will be the first speaker in a series of discussions on "There ARE Alternatives to Reaganism." Reservations may be made and directions to the event obtained by calling the ADA office (647-2727) Wednesday, Monday through Fridays; or by calling Greg Levandusky, 489-2057 during the evenings or weekends. Tickets are $25 per person or $20 each if you bring one or more people with you. Reservations are also being accepted for the remaining four sessions of the series at a total cost of $15.00 (no dinner).

Science for the People will present an open forum on the "New Realities in the Middle East" on Sunday, November 21 at 7:30pm in the Harvard Science Center, room B. For more information, contact Troy Brown or Bob Lange at 470-0370.

Lincoln P. Bloomfield, MIT Professor of Political Science, author of The Foreign Policy Process: A Modern Primer, will lecture at 12:00pm to 1:00pm in the Rotunda at World Affairs Council headquarters, 22 Batterymarch St. Boston. For information call the World Affairs council office 482-1740.

Daniel Vergin, Harvard professor and author, speaks on "Our Energy Future: Global Insecurity" on Wednesday, December 1, 4pm at Cambridge Forum, 3 Church St., Harvard Square. Free.

The Center for Cognitive Science is sponsoring a seminar series on Tuesday evenings at 7:30pm in room 2-139. The seminars will discuss recent papers in linguistics, philosophy, and artificial intelligence. For additional information, contact Brenda Abanis, x3-7316.

How to make peace with Tolstoy.

Is this twice the pizza or half the price?

The original Uno deep dish pizza is filled with nearly twice as much filling as you'd find in an ordinary pizza (the flat kind).

You'll love its rich, crisp crust, baked in its own deep pan full of the freshest vegetables, meats, creamy cheeses and delicate spices. Any way you slice it, there's something for everyone. It's delicious! Come Soon! You'll need a big appetite and a small kitchen.

If the academic wars are getting you down, declare a cease-fire. Take a break with a rich and chocolatey cup of Suisse Mocha. It's just one of five deliciously different flavors from General Foods International Coffees. At your local General Foods International Coffees outlet. As much a feeling as a flavor.