Pope to visit Central America — Pope John Paul II will visit El Salvador early next year, according to an announcement Sunday by a Rome Catholic Church official in San Salvador. The trip, the Pope's first to the region, will also include other Central American countries and Haiti. The visit comes at a time when the Church finds itself under pressure from political forces in this traditionally Catholic region and from the recent growth of the evangelical Protestant movement.

Lebanese army seizes hospital's drugs — Soldiers of the Lebanese army seized at least $50,000 in drugs from the Palestinian-run Gaza hospital in Beirut on Sunday, according to the hospital's director, Dr. Hamowr. A spokesman for the Lebanese Army said he knew of the incidents, but would not comment on them. "They took all our antibiotics" Joel Gluck, anesthetics in today's raid," said Dr. Hamowr. Yesterday-they got Amir Hamowr. A spokesman for the Lebanese Army said he knew of the incidents, but would not comment on them. "They took all our antibiotics"

Weather

More of the same — Skies will turn overcast by late this afternoon, but southwesterly winds will bring mild weather for the next several days. High temperatures this week will remain in the low to middle 40's, while nighttime temperatures can be expected to dip into the low-er 40's.

"We are hopeful of a modest economic recovery in 1983 with an increase in corporate earnings and a reduction of dividend increases."

Although the value of all institute investments, including some temporary income, exceeded $500 million during the rally, Strehle said MIT made no effort to alter its ratio of cash to securities. The Institute holds 30 percent of its investments in equities, consisting of common stock and convertible bonds, 22 percent in bonds and short term securities, and the remaining 8 percent in real estate, according to Strehle.

Too Much Reading Getting You Down?

They don’t skip or skim either. They read every single word. Nor do they use machines. Instead, they let the material they’re reading determine how fast they read.

Well, maybe it should! Today, our knowledge is exploding so fast that people who want to keep up ahead are actually falling behind. There’s simply too much to read. Too much homework. Too many books. Too many reports and memos.

What’s the solution? Learn how to read faster and better. You can do it too. So far over 1,000,000 other people have done it. People with different jobs, different I.Q.s, different interests, different educations. Students businessmen housewives.

These people have all taken a course developed by Evelyn Wood, a prominent educator. They have at least tripled their reading speed with equal or better comprehension. Most have increased it even more. Some increased it 10, even 20 times.

Thnk for a moment what that means. Our average graduate can read the typical novel in less than two hours. They can read this ad in 20 seconds. They can read an entire issue of Time in 35 minutes.
