Feedback

Candidates propose parliamentary form

A judicial unit should be established to evaluate appeals from Intra-Fraternity Council Judicial Board decisions. A new Finance Board would be organized in order to review any appeals from the Finance Committee. When a majority of the Senators vote for "no confidence," a new Secretary-General would be elected.

Discussion and debate of the proposed legislation in the parliamentary form of student government were welcomed.

Shiva Aydyaduru ’85
Kyung Koh ’85

Editor’s note: Freedman is man ’84, not Kenneth J. Freedman.

To the Editor:

My name is Kenneth 1. Freedman ’84, not Kenneth J. Freedman.

To the Editor:

Richard Cowan ’84
David Chiang ’84
Robert Krawitz ’86
William Herlan ’86
Alisa Jain ’86
Megan Chaker ‘86
Kenneth I. Freedman ’84

To the Mayor

WON'T CONCEDE UNTIL ALL THE BALLOTS ARE FROM THE COOK COUNTY CEMETARY...

Hunger is world-wide problem

“Tuition Riot” not a farce to organizers

To the Editor:

The Heritage Foundation all have come to similar conclusions: We are in a world-wide problem.

In recent years experts have given us new and convincing arguments to support the conviction that the cause of world hunger is to be found in the clash of the industrialized society against the peasant economies. The World Bank, the United Nations, the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, and many others have emphasized that the industrialized countries have, among other things, increased their consumption of food, which in turn has led to a situation where the developing countries are unable to export their goods to the industrialized countries. The world economy is therefore out of balance, and we cannot expect the developing countries to be able to feed themselves. The solution is therefore to be found in the industrialized countries, which must reduce their consumption of food and increase their investments in the developing countries.

In the United States, the situation is even more serious, as the population is increasing at a rapid rate and the economy is growing at an even faster rate. The result is that the demand for food is increasing, while the supply is decreasing. The solution is therefore to be found in the United States, which must reduce its consumption of food and increase its investments in the developing countries.

In conclusion, we must all work together to solve the world hunger problem. We cannot afford to ignore this problem, as it is a threat to the future of our planet.

Sincerely,

Kenneth 1. Freedman ’84