To the Editor:

When I saw the drop date movie, "The Night of the Living Dead," I was reminded of the General Assembly. The movie, for those who didn't see it, involves uncoordinated zombies who ever so slowly eat the flesh of their human victims. The zombies can't be killed easily; they will just fall down, bleed a bit, and get back up again — unless you burn them or shoot them in the head.

The General Assembly is like a zombie; when it moves, it moves slowly, without coherence or coordination. The General Assembly doesn't eat the flesh of its human victims; it eats their time.

Ristad wrong, but......

To the Editor:

I was going to write a lengthy letter expressing my regret to Eric Sven Ristad that he has most of his facts wrong, doesn't understand what freedom of speech entitles individuals, mouths blatant propaganda, makes racist comments, fails to understand the educational process, and comes across as bigoted to the point of being irrational, but I decided against it.

Mr. Ristad expresses opposing regret to authoritarianism.

Library does not choose foreign newspapers

To the Editor:

In reference to Jason Papastavrou's letter [Feedback, May 3] concerning the choice of Greek newspapers, the Student Center Library subscribes to no foreign newspapers. Library-funded subscriptions are limited to the daily Boston papers, The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, and the New York Times Book Review. The magazine subscriptions include the world's commercial journals, such as Novels Omnibus, Der Spiegel and Time.

Other newspapers and magazines, such as Rizopastis and the Arabic language publications, come to us in three ways. Student groups subscribe to publications using the Student Center Library mailing address. Individual students donate personal copies of newspapers to the library. Foreign governments or organizations send publications to the Student Center Library associated or as requested by MIT students or groups.

In discussion with representatives of the Hellenic Students' Association and other groups, I have suggested that their organizations subscribe to acceptable titles and have them mailed to the Student Center Library. Apparently, the Greek students group has not responded favorably to that suggestion. An alternative is to request gift subscriptions from newspaper publishers noting the number of nationals studying here at MIT.

Night of the living General Assembly

And it can be killed. John DeRubeis severely injured the General Assembly by treating it like a club. Under Ken Segel, it came back to life. But Ken dealt it a sharp blow by not being serious and then expecting people to take the General Assembly seriously, which makes some sense, since when Undergraduate Association presidents were serious, people did not take the General Assembly seriously.

Now, incredibly, the General Assembly has come back to life with Mike Witt, Inge Gordo, and Beatriz Garcia. And, in six weeks, they have gone far to kill it, just like their predecessors. But

Now the only reason to take a train in Europe is if you can't drive.

If you're going to Europe this summer, don't see it from a train. See it from behind the wheel of a Hertz car. It's less expensive than a darn train pass, even less even than when you share the ride with a friend. Plus with a Hertz car, there's never a change for mileage.

By renting from Hertz, you can reserve your car just 7 days before renting, you don't have to pay in advance, and in many cases there's no drop off charge. And unlike some rent-a-car companies, Hertz's minimum renting age is 18 years old. What's more, our prices are guaranteed in local currency through March 31, 1984. So no matter how much the dollar fluctuates, our rates won't.

Hertz also saves you money when you're off the road. We offer discounts at over 1,500 hotels in Europe, including Holiday Inns. Rooms start as low as $28 per person, double occupancy ($37 in Britain), including breakfast, service and tax.

For full details, call your travel agent. Or call Hertz at 1-800-654-3000. If you think going by train is cheaper, you'll be pleased to discover you're way off track.

Hertz also has low weekly rates on larger cars. Gas and optional charges are not included. Hertz dollar rate shown above is based on exchange rates as of March 23, 1983.
