dance and Orientation (R/O) week, Sherwood said. He does not, however, expect to crowd freshman during R/O week.

"When we first saw the numbers for summer residents and the list of R/O workers, we panicied," Sherwood said. He said the Dean's Office gave strict qua-tas to student organizations for upperclassmen returning during R/O week. About 600 students will return early for sport teams, ROTC, and R/O work.

Returning upperclassmen without permission to arrive early will not be allowed to live in the dormitories, Sherwood said.

dents were treated like second-class citizens at the Institute. We felt it would be beneficial for their educational experience to be given some housing.

Fifth year students — who were also given dormitory housing the past two years — will not be able to stay in the dormitories next year, Sherwood noted.

Hartwell is "very optimistic" that the kitchens will be ready by the start of R/O Week.
