Sex-biased lottery will be corrected tonight lose in the second lottery," she explained.

Hene said, "Even though a review will assess people already in Concordia, it's probably best to have it.

Concourse unknowingly violated Title IX for four years, Lettvin said. It biased its last four lotteries to obtain classes with approximately ten women.

"By experience, we found when there were less than five women in the group, they would begin to feel uncomfortable," he explained. "It's been our policy to express to the students that the lottery would be biased toward women." "At the time when [Lettvin] mentioned they were biasing the lottery, I felt like saying something, that it would hurt my chances to get in," said Chris Linn '87, an applicant who went into Concourse in the first lottery.

"The students decided to go ahead [and show the film] and that is their privilege under MIT's rules and procedures," commented Louis B. Menand III, chairman of the MIT Facilities Use Committee.

As a private institution, he said, MIT is not subject to the First Amendment. "I would hope that there would be a variety of entertain-et options for students at times like registration day," Menand said, adding "Let
a hundred flowers bloom."

Prof. Samuel J. Keyser, head of the Department of Linguistics and Philosophy and faculty resident of Senior House, deplored the pornography industry as "dehumanizing industry," he said.

"Second, while I recognize the existence of freedom of speech and that we cannot be censors, I would like to break the tradition
the First Amendment. "I would hope that there would be a variety of entertain-et options for students at times like registration

"At the very least, I thought it was bad timing having it on registration day," Keyser said. He said that he thought the Dean's Office party was "a good idea." "I'm not upset with Concur-sus," he continued. "I can understand that they're in a tight spot." Linn said he was worried about the rescheduling that he would have to do if he was not picked in the second lottery, until he spoke with Lettvin.

"We'll help the students with their rescheduling," Linn said.

"When more students complained about it later," he said,
"we asked Mary Rowe whether we had violated any law," according to Lettvin. "She asked a law firm, and it said we were in clear violation of Title IX.

"It was not our intent to vi-tate the spirit of the title. We are now under order from the legal department of MIT to rehold the lottery.

Linn said, "If I don't get picked, I will probably keep on pressing to get into Concourse, maybe even up to next term."

SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING MAJORS:
TAKE OUT INSURANCE NOW

How about an "insurance" policy that your science or engineering degree will really be used? It would be nice, especially considering the work you put into such a degree.

The Air Force will use your talents. We have openings for young men and women majoring in selected science and engineering academic fields...like Aeronautical, Aerospace, General and Electrical Engineering, Mathematics, Physics and Computer Technology, and many more.

One way to get into these jobs is through Air Force ROTC. Our AFROTC scholarship can help you financially, so you can concentrate on getting your degree. AFROTC is a great opportunity to help yourself through college, and the Air Force is a great opportunity to really use what you learn.

Look into the Air Force ROTC program at your campus. It's good insurance.
