Field hockey dominates Pine Manor

(Continued from page 20)

The Engineers, for all the pres- sure, could not get a tally in the first half, although they had a number of close calls. Beverage had three good chances (two were kicked away, while one went just wide). Karen Renaud '84 put one wide of the goal, and Nancy Schuster '87 had a bid which the Pine Manor goalie gave up with. The best chance in the half was by Chen. With 4:01 remaining, MIT was awarded a penalty shot when a Pine Manor defender stopped the ball on the goal line with her foot. Chen was chosen to take the shot. She lifted the ball into the air, but right at the goalie, who made an easy stop with the chest protector. Chen later explained that "You're sup- posed to go for the corners, ei- ther the upper or the lower, but I couldn't get it there." Several other opportu- nities for MIT failed, and the half ended in a scoreless tie.

The second 35 minutes were a repeat of the first. The Engineers never let Pine Manor get organ- ized and constantly put the heat on the enemy goal. At the 19:51 mark, a Beverage shot off a feed from Renaud was trapped in the goalie's pads, forcing the second penalty shot of the contest. Chen was called upon again to take the shot, and this time she connect- ed, putting the ball in the upper right corner off the goalie's hand. Chen's second goal was one of the more artistic one will see in a field hockey game, where most of the action is centered less than ten yards in front of the goal. She intercepted a Pine Manor pass, ran about 15 yards, and fired one home from about 40 feet on the left side. Chen later commented, "I was fortunate to have a clear shot inside the cir- cle." Her tally with 12:27 to go gave Tech a 3-0 advantage, and the hosts cruised in from there. The undefeated, once-tied start gives MIT a good shot at its first .500 season since 1980, when it finished 9-4-1. The team has the fortune of having lost no one to graduation, and the addition of first-year players such as Bever- age is a big plus. Chen feels that since most of the players have been together for at least a year, there is a definite change in the team's style of play: "We're play- ing a smarter, more patient game than last year, when we were more aggressive."

M.I.T. HISTORY SECTION

Special Addition to Fall 1989 Course Listings

21.403 The Civil War and Reconstruction

Mon., Wed., Fri. 12-1
Room 2-142 J. Lazerow

Anti-slavery and the intensification of sectionalism in the 1850s; the secession crisis; political and mili- tary developments in the Civil War years; the "re- construction" of Southern politics and society after Appomattox.

Recommen date weaned: Female room- mates for 3 bdr. East Cambridge apt. at 61 Otis b mtw. 5th and 6th 200mc. Natasha or Carol, call 427-7311 or 547- 5236; Otis try Caroline, x3-450 or Cathy Bernie, x2-8849.

Word Processing

Available from $1.00 per insertion in The Tech. Prepaid, please. Call 661-3166 evenings and weekends.

Portuguese Tutor needed for private conversations. $1.50 per hour or higher, 3-5 hours/ wk. Carioca accent preferred. Called Su- san, 523-8828.

Sales/Marketing

Campus rep position for student, work- ing on promotion and sales of beer pro- ducts. Part time, flexible hours, benefits. Call Jill, 323-0500, ext. 203.

Shakespeare Ensembie seeks reliable Business Manager: Involves major fin- ancial responsibility for active student Finance group. Excellent financial man- agement experience. Call x3-2903 or 854-4056.

Apartment Available

Cambridge: Amory Street, 2 bedrooms, renovated building, d&d. hardwood flrs, yard, laundry exposed brick. No undergraduates: $750 + utilities. 10/1. Call 641-3166 evenings and weekends.

Field hockey dominates Pine Manor

(Continued from page 20)

The Engineers, for all the pressure, could not get a tally in the first half, although they had a number of close calls. Beverage had three good chances (two were kicked away, while one went just wide). Karen Renaud '84 put one wide of the goal, and Nancy Schuster '87 had a bid which the Pine Manor goalie gave up with. The best chance in the half was by Chen. With 4:01 remaining, MIT was awarded a penalty shot when a Pine Manor defender stopped the ball on the goal line with her foot. Chen was chosen to take the shot. She lifted the ball into the air, but right at the goalie, who made an easy stop with the chest protector. Chen later explained that "You're sup- posed to go for the corners, either the upper or the lower, but I couldn't get it there." Several other opportunities for MIT failed, and the half ended in a scoreless tie.

The second 35 minutes were a repeat of the first. The Engineers never let Pine Manor get organ- ized and constantly put the heat on the enemy goal. At the 19:51 mark, a Beverage shot off a feed from Renaud was trapped in the goalie's pads, forcing the second penalty shot of the contest. Chen was called upon again to take the shot, and this time she connect- ed, putting the ball in the upper right corner off the goalie's hand. Chen's second goal was one of the more artistic one will see in a field hockey game, where most of the action is centered less than ten yards in front of the goal. She intercepted a Pine Manor pass, ran about 15 yards, and fired one home from about 40 feet on the left side. Chen later commented, "I was fortunate to have a clear shot inside the circle." Her tally with 12:27 to go gave Tech a 3-0 advantage, and the hosts cruised in from there. The undefeated, once-tied start gives MIT a good shot at its first .500 season since 1980, when it finished 9-4-1. The team has the fortune of having lost no one to graduation, and the addition of first-year players such as Beverage is a big plus. Chen feels that since most of the players have been together for at least a year, there is a definite change in the team's style of play: "We're play- ing a smarter, more patient game than last year, when we were more aggressive."