First cruise missiles arrive in Europe — The first American cruise missiles arrived in England Monday, four years after NATO's decision to deploy medium-range nuclear missiles throughout Western Europe. A total of 464 US Tomahawk ground-launched cruise missiles and 108 Pershing 2 missiles will eventually be deployed by 1988. Some British leaders have opposed the placement of the missiles on British soil since the United States will retain control over them. British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher defended the NATO plan, citing the current Soviet monopoly on medium-range nuclear missiles as being unacceptable. The Soviet Union has an estimated 360 triple-warheaded SS20 missiles, 200 of which are targeted at strategic points in Western Europe. The Pershing 2 and the cruise missiles are equipped with one warhead each.

Turkish Cyriote declare independence — The Turkish faction on the Mediterranean island of Cyprus has declared the northern part of the island as the new Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus. The move was condemned by the United States and Greece, which said that the action was a serious threat to peace. The leader of the Turkish Cypriot, Rauf Real Drinka, stressed that the Turks simply want association Cyprus with the Greek Cyprus as equal. So far, the only nation to recognize the Turkish Republic has been Turkey.

Israel bomb Shirei Moslem military bases — Israeli airplanes ventured beyond Syrian lines in east Lebanon, attacking bases of two Shi'ite Moslem military groups, and killing 30 in the raids. The Shi'ite militia are thought to have participated in the two earlier truck-bomb attacks, one on U.S. Marines and French soldiers in Beirut, and the other on Israeli troops in Tyre. According to Israeli radio, the air strikes were ordered by Israel after it became clear that the United States did not intend to retaliate for the Beirut bombing that killed 239 Americans.

Senate kills tuition tax credits — The Senate voted 59-38 Wednesday to defeat a bill strongly supported by the Reagan Administration that would have provided tax credits to parents who send their children to private schools. Sens. Robert Dole, R-Kansas, and Richard Lugar, R-Ind., the Senate leaders who were dead-set against the bill, convinced Congress to vote down the measure and halt the war in the Senate. The Reagan Administration has placed the tax credit bill at the top of its legislative agenda. Senate leaders also said they have reached a compromise that will allow the passage of an increase in the American debt ceiling so that the Treasury can borrow money to let the federal government continue operating. The compromise was reached after Senate leaders agreed to allow Senator William L. Armstrong, R-Col., the chance to propose an amendment that would give the President enhanced powers to withhold Federal expenditures if Congress exceeds its own spending limits.
