These are the second and third parts of a three-part series, The Hero, "The Green Road to Samia- go," appeared July 17.

I'm a Seoul Man

After about five weeks in San- tiego, everyone from my com- pany split for home except for me. I found a marvelous apar- ment in Las Condes for US $9 a month and started to settle into the lap of Chilean luxury. Of course, this Miss Kang's - a Seoul Man - is not here to tell you about Chilean life, I received a phone call or- dering me to go out and to go to Seoul, Republic of Korea. Unfortunately, due to the sud- deness of the trip arrangements, I had the distinct displeasure of taking an eighteen-hour flight to coach class. On the other hand, one of the lessons of the business travel is that you get to stay in comfortable accommodations. The Hyatt Regency in Seoul has many amenities, including household staff, a. who greet you at the door and prepare your meals for you. Also, one of the interna- tional aspects of the trip is that the em- ployees can't go out with the company guests. This meant that all I could do was give Miss Kang Oak and peek over our shoulders or late into Koreans watching us - or stay in the office, as it implies a familiar- ity that I could not have her and my own experience. She told me that she did not trust me, that she had "heard about you Young Hee cant do was give Miss Kang Oak and

One of the first times we met, she kind of like a yellow light; the in- creased for a while. We decreased for a while.

