TUESDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1984

The Tech PAGE 11

CEP plan would restrict some students' majors

The following is the text of the CEP motion, which was discussed at the Faculty Meeting on October 13, 1984.

The motion carried by a vote of 14-7 was as follows:

"The Committee on Undergraduate Admissions and Financial Aid (CUAFA) proposes that the CEP approve a CUP policy to restrict the number of applicants who can be admitted to MIT in any one year."

The motion was approved by a vote of 6-1, with 2 abstentions. The vote was taken by electronic means, with each faculty member voting individually. The results were announced by the Dean of Undergraduate Admissions, Dr. James F. Roth, who noted that the motion had been approved by a substantial majority of the faculty. He also thanked the students who had supported the motion, and encouraged them to continue to express their views on the CUP process.

For more information, visit your placement office or contact us.

Our Corporate Chief Scientist, Dr. James F. Roth, will be on campus to visit Ph.D. Chemists on 26 October.

Air Products... a billion dollar company with room for growth...

... yours

Our 1984 sales were $1.8 billion, marking 25 years of consistent growth. We're five times as large as we were ten years ago. The key factor in this remarkable growth has been our employees—dedicated, competent individuals with a strong desire to grow right along with us. And our culture depends on more people who are able to meet the demands of our organization while developing professionally and personally.

Air Products is engaged in...

- Industrial Gases
- Cryogenics
- Industrial and Polymer Chemicals
- Catalysis
- Process Equipment
- Plant Construction
- Engineering and Construction Services

We offer career opportunities in areas including...

- Engineering
- Research
- Manufacturing
- Planning
- Financial Management
- Management Information
- Purchasing
- Marketing
- Sales

Air Products and Chemicals, Inc.
University Relations
Box 538, Allentown, PA 18105

An Equal Opportunity Employer