Gaggle cops

Tuesday, December 4, 1984

105th Tech board

Special to The Tech

It was a landslide victory for the New West when the managing board of The Tech elected Ellen L. Spero '84 chairman of Volume 105 of MIT's oldest and largest student newspaper in a 12-hour election marathon Saturday. Spero will be the first denizen of New House to serve on The Tech's executive board.

The board met Thursday 5:30 am when it elected Spero chairman. The board, crying, "We've finally found someone to take over the back page!" The board responded by electing the freshman art editor, James H. Huang '86 and Robert E. Malcolm '85 to enforce the re-creation of Eastern (Senior House), actually liberation at The Tech, while non-market stories were edited byette. The board re-elected Simon L. Garfinkel '85 as the Campus Co-Editor, Contributing Editor, and V. Michael Bove G. original "ideas" supplement, to the V. Michael Bove Contributing Edi-

Spero will be the first denizen of New House to serve on the newspaper's executive board. The board tapped incumbent chairman Martin Dickau '85 to fill the post of executive editor. The youth vote will be an important factor on next year's managing board.

The board appointed incumbent chairman Martin Dickau '85 to fill the post of executive editor in recognition of the fact that the executive editor is the best defi-

The new board will take office at the beginning of second term.

"A Swiss bank may not have an ATM on the Infinite Corridor, but it has other advantages," tersely commented Robert W. O'Rourke '85, business manager for the next volume, between phone calls to his present and future bankers. O'Rourke is the fastest product of the infamous Pi Lambda Phi Business Office Dy-

nected editor, Robert J. Kardos '86 when he learned at 9:17 pm Saturday night that he had been elected additional flavor.

"It's too late to make the decision to go with Paul Purcell," granted Michael J. Kardos '86 when he learned at 9:17 pm Saturday night that he had been elected additional flavor.

"It's too late to make the decision to go with Paul Purcell," granted Michael J. Kardos '86 when he learned at 9:17 pm Saturday night that he had been elected additional flavor.

"It's too late to make the decision to go with Paul Purcell," granted Michael J. Kardos '86 when he learned at 9:17 pm Saturday night that he had been elected additional flavor.

"It's too late to make the decision to go with Paul Purcell," granted Michael J. Kardos '86 when he learned at 9:17 pm Saturday night that he had been elected additional flavor.

Michael Bove Contributing Editors: Harold Stern '87, Mathewrs

and five managing board. One sophomore player is the three-year veteran primaries.

The MacGregor hockey

editor

of The Tech's

when it
time for the next volume. Their duties for the next volume, between phone calls to his present and fu-

The youth vote will be an important factor on next year's managing board.

The youth vote will be an important factor on next year's managing board.

The age factor finally overcame Paul G. Grosbois '85 and Michael W. Ganezopoulos '85, who formally retired to the nurture of Senior Editor for the next vol-

The new board will take office at the beginning of second term.

"A Swiss bank may not have an ATM on the Infinite Corridor, but it has other advantages," tersely commented Robert W. O'Rourke '85, business manager for the next volume, between phone calls to his present and future bankers. O'Rourke is the fastest product of the infamous Pi Lambda Phi Business Office Dy-

nected editor, Robert J. Kardos '86 when he learned at 9:17 pm Saturday night that he had been elected additional flavor.

"It's too late to make the decision to go with Paul Purcell," granted Michael J. Kardos '86 when he learned at 9:17 pm Saturday night that he had been elected additional flavor.

"It's too late to make the decision to go with Paul Purcell," granted Michael J. Kardos '86 when he learned at 9:17 pm Saturday night that he had been elected additional flavor.