sports

Volleyball 2nd in nation

(Continued from page 12) The final match against Calvin, UCSD and La Verne fans	wished not to consume, as they had done to some degree in 1983, but with concern. MIT played well against UCSD. The Tritons' victory was not easy. While UCSD was clearly the better team, MIT made it clear that the national championship before the television coverage. ESPN. UCSD won the match, but MIT held its own.

Volleyball earns respect

(Continued from page 12) advanced them to the 1984 championship tournament was de-

dicted by MIT's sports information director, Ken Cerino, as "one of the all-time greatest sports wins in MIT history".

Last weekend at Elmhurst College, the women's volleyball team went further than any other team in any sport in MIT history. MIT sparked by the play of 1983 All-

American Lori Canto, put together a team victory over 10th-ranked Calvin College. Perhaps more important than the victory was the reaction of supporters of UCSD and La Verne who had travelled from the beaches of California to wintry Verne who had travelled from the beaches of California to watch their teams compete against squads from Michigan and Massachusetts. As MIT took control of its semifinal match against Calvin, UCSD and La Verne fans in for the kill. Each player made a significant contribution at the right moments. Highlights included a barrage of spikes and services by Chin and Kausl. The Calvin defense could not hold, and the Eng-gines advanced to the finals with a 15-10 win.

Tournament Notes

Lori Canto was one of six players named to the all-tournadment team. Also named were Laura Argueza of La Verne and Christy Wada, Carol Lipson, Muffy Whaley and Karin Kall, all of UCSD.

The final match between MIT and UCSD was televised and will be shown on ESPN on December 13 at 10 pm. December 14 at 4:30 pm and on December 27 at 11 pm.

To the MIT community: GAMIT stationery with the above logo was recently stolen from the GAMIT Lounge. Please call x3-5440 to verify anything received on GAMIT stationery.

A $50 reward is offered for information leading to the return of documents and other items that were stolen.

Anyone with information about the break-in should call GAMIT at x3-5440 or Linda Vaughan at x3-4861.