Where is The Tech heading?

Lisen: The Tech is a mediocre college newspaper. On good days, we cover the Course V1 overcrowding problem and the appointment of the new provost. On bad days, we cover the front page with reporting errors and five stories on sexually explicit films. Our opinions pages are often one-sided.

But we have a heart. Is it a good heart or an evil heart? Many people complain. I hear, "Those guys are insensitive. Those girls get lost in controversy.

But sometimes events hurt us. Students die, and we must describe their lives in black and white. Mary Hope and William McLaurin are dismissed. The Dean's Office places Alpha Delta Phi on probation. We feel is important to report these stories, even if they are controversial. Questions are asked. Lessons are learned.

Imagine that: we must write stories which we know will make people hate us.

Where is The Tech heading? I hear that the newsprint will it will soon overtake The Tech as MIT's principal newspaper. I can't staff at this. That publication is improving. But, I think there is a difference between the School of Architecture and Infor/Out. It has not written painful stories.

In May, James H. Williams, Jr., professor of mechanical engineering, wrote: "I want to thank The Tech for saving me 65 hours a week. But, I will fill with films. With five papers, our opinions pages are often one-sided.

But sometimes events hurt us. Students die, and we must describe their lives in black and white. Mary Hope and William McLaurin are dismissed. The Dean's Office places Alpha Delta Phi on probation. We feel it is important to report these stories, even if they are controversial. Questions are asked. Lessons are learned.

Imagine that: we must write stories which we know will make people hate us.

Where is The Tech heading? I hear that the newsprint will it will soon overtake The Tech as MIT's principal newspaper. I can't staff at this. That publication is improving. But, I think there is a difference between the School of Architecture and Infor/Out. It has not written painful stories.

In May, James H. Williams, Jr., professor of mechanical engineering, wrote: "I want to thank The Tech for saving me 65 hours a week. But, I will fill with films. With five papers, our opinions pages are often one-sided.

But sometimes events hurt us. Students die, and we must describe their lives in black and white. Mary Hope and William McLaurin are dismissed. The Dean's Office places Alpha Delta Phi on probation. We feel it is important to report these stories, even if they are controversial. Questions are asked. Lessons are learned.

Imagine that: we must write stories which we know will make people hate us.

Where is The Tech heading? I hear that the newsprint will it will soon overtake The Tech as MIT's principal newspaper. I can't staff at this. That publication is improving. But, I think there is a difference between the School of Architecture and Infor/Out. It has not written painful stories.

In May, James H. Williams, Jr., professor of mechanical engineering, wrote: "I want to thank The Tech for saving me 65 hours a week. But, I will fill with films. With five papers, our opinions pages are often one-sided.

But sometimes events hurt us. Students die, and we must describe their lives in black and white. Mary Hope and William McLaurin are dismissed. The Dean's Office places Alpha Delta Phi on probation. We feel it is important to report these stories, even if they are controversial. Questions are asked. Lessons are learned.

Imagine that: we must write stories which we know will make people hate us.

Where is The Tech heading? I hear that the newsprint will it will soon overtake The Tech as MIT's principal newspaper. I can't staff at this. That publication is improving. But, I think there is a difference between the School of Architecture and Infor/Out. It has not written painful stories.

In May, James H. Williams, Jr., professor of mechanical engineering, wrote: "I want to thank The Tech for saving me 65 hours a week. But, I will fill with films. With five papers, our opinions pages are often one-sided.

But sometimes events hurt us. Students die, and we must describe their lives in black and white. Mary Hope and William McLaurin are dismissed. The Dean's Office places Alpha Delta Phi on probation. We feel it is important to report these stories, even if they are controversial. Questions are asked. Lessons are learned.

Imagine that: we must write stories which we know will make people hate us.

Where is The Tech heading? I hear that the newsprint will it will soon overtake The Tech as MIT's principal newspaper. I can't staff at this. That publication is improving. But, I think there is a difference between the School of Architecture and Infor/Out. It has not written painful stories.

In May, James H. Williams, Jr., professor of mechanical engineering, wrote: "I want to thank The Tech for saving me 65 hours a week. But, I will fill with films. With five papers, our opinions pages are often one-sided.

But sometimes events hurt us. Students die, and we must describe their lives in black and white. Mary Hope and William McLaurin are dismissed. The Dean's Office places Alpha Delta Phi on probation. We feel it is important to report these stories, even if they are controversial. Questions are asked. Lessons are learned.

Imagine that: we must write stories which we know will make people hate us.

Where is The Tech heading? I hear that the newsprint will it will soon overtake The Tech as MIT's principal newspaper. I can't staff at this. That publication is improving. But, I think there is a difference between the School of Architecture and Infor/Out. It has not written painful stories.

In May, James H. Williams, Jr., professor of mechanical engineering, wrote: "I want to thank The Tech for saving me 65 hours a week. But, I will fill with films. With five papers, our opinions pages are often one-sided.

But sometimes events hurt us. Students die, and we must describe their lives in black and white. Mary Hope and William McLaurin are dismissed. The Dean's Office places Alpha Delta Phi on probation. We feel it is important to report these stories, even if they are controversial. Questions are asked. Lessons are learned.

Imagine that: we must write stories which we know will make people hate us.

Where is The Tech heading? I hear that the newsprint will it will soon overtake The Tech as MIT's principal newspaper. I can't staff at this. That publication is improving. But, I think there is a difference between the School of Architecture and Infor/Out. It has not written painful stories.

In May, James H. Williams, Jr., professor of mechanical engineering, wrote: "I want to thank The Tech for saving me 65 hours a week. But, I will fill with films. With five papers, our opinions pages are often one-sided.

But sometimes events hurt us. Students die, and we must describe their lives in black and white. Mary Hope and William McLaurin are dismissed. The Dean's Office places Alpha Delta Phi on probation. We feel it is important to report these stories, even if they are controversial. Questions are asked. Lessons are learned.

Imagine that: we must write stories which we know will make people hate us.

Where is The Tech heading? I hear that the newsprint will it will soon overtake The Tech as MIT's principal newspaper. I can't staff at this. That publication is improving. But, I think there is a difference between the School of Architecture and Infor/Out. It has not written painful stories.

In May, James H. Williams, Jr., professor of mechanical engineering, wrote: "I want to thank The Tech for saving me 65 hours a week. But, I will fill with films. With five papers, our opinions pages are often one-sided.

But sometimes events hurt us. Students die, and we must describe their lives in black and white. Mary Hope and William McLaurin are dismissed. The Dean's Office places Alpha Delta Phi on probation. We feel it is important to report these stories, even if they are controversial. Questions are asked. Lessons are learned.

Imagine that: we must write stories which we know will make people hate us.

Where is The Tech heading? I hear that the newsprint will it will soon overtake The Tech as MIT's principal newspaper. I can't staff at this. That publication is improving. But, I think there is a difference between the School of Architecture and Infor/Out. It has not written painful stories.

In May, James H. Williams, Jr., professor of mechanical engineering, wrote: "I want to thank The Tech for saving me 65 hours a week. But, I will fill with films. With five papers, our opinions pages are often one-sided.

But sometimes events hurt us. Students die, and we must describe their lives in black and white. Mary Hope and William McLaurin are dismissed. The Dean's Office places Alpha Delta Phi on probation. We feel it is important to report these stories, even if they are controversial. Questions are asked. Lessons are learned.

Imagine that: we must write stories which we know will make people hate us.

Where is The Tech heading? I hear that the newsprint will it will soon overtake The Tech as MIT's principal newspaper. I can't staff at this. That publication is improving. But, I think there is a difference between the School of Architecture and Infor/Out. It has not written painful stories.

In May, James H. Williams, Jr., professor of mechanical engineering, wrote: "I want to thank The Tech for saving me 65 hours a week. But, I will fill with films. With five papers, our opinions pages are often one-sided.

But sometimes events hurt us. Students die, and we must describe their lives in black and white. Mary Hope and William McLaurin are dismissed. The Dean's Office places Alpha Delta Phi on probation. We feel it is important to report these stories, even if they are controversial. Questions are asked. Lessons are learned.

Imagine that: we must write stories which we know will make people hate us.

Where is The Tech heading? I hear that the newsprint will it will soon overtake The Tech as MIT's principal newspaper. I can't staff at this. That publication is improving. But, I think there is a difference between the School of Architecture and Infor/Out. It has not written painful stories.

In May, James H. Williams, Jr., professor of mechanical engineering, wrote: "I want to thank The Tech for saving me 65 hours a week. But, I will fill with films. With five papers, our opinions pages are often one-sided.

But sometimes events hurt us. Students die, and we must describe their lives in black and white. Mary Hope and William McLaurin are dismissed. The Dean's Office places Alpha Delta Phi on probation. We feel it is important to report these stories, even if they are controversial. Questions are asked. Lessons are learned.

Imagine that: we must write stories which we know will make people hate us.

Where is The Tech heading? I hear that the newsprint will it will soon overtake The Tech as MIT's principal newspaper. I can't staff at this. That publication is improving. But, I think there is a difference between the School of Architecture and Infor/Out. It has not written painful stories.

In May, James H. Williams, Jr., professor of mechanical engineering, wrote: "I want to thank The Tech for saving me 65 hours a week. But, I will fill with films. With five papers, our opinions pages are often one-sided.

But sometimes events hurt us. Students die, and we must describe their lives in black and white. Mary Hope and William McLaurin are dismissed. The Dean's Office places Alpha Delta Phi on probation. We feel it is important to report these stories, even if they are controversial. Questions are asked. Lessons are learned.

Imagine that: we must write stories which we know will make people hate us.

Where is The Tech heading? I hear that the newsprint will it will soon overtake The Tech as MIT's principal newspaper. I can't staff at this. That publication is improving. But, I think there is a difference between the School of Architecture and Infor/Out. It has not written painful stories.

In May, James H. Williams, Jr., professor of mechanical engineering, wrote: "I want to thank The Tech for saving me 65 hours a week. But, I will fill with films. With five papers, our opinions pages are often one-sided.

But sometimes events hurt us. Students die, and we must describe their lives in black and white. Mary Hope and William McLaurin are dismissed. The Dean's Office places Alpha Delta Phi on probation. We feel it is important to report these stories, even if they are controversial. Questions are asked. Lessons are learned.

Imagine that: we must write stories which we know will make people hate us.

Where is The Tech heading? I hear that the newsprint will it will soon overtake The Tech as MIT's principal newspaper. I can't staff at this. That publication is improving. But, I think there is a difference between the School of Architecture and Infor/Out. It has not written painful stories.