Dealing with others after MIT

It is not enough that you should understand something in science in order for your meaning increase the mass of knowledge. Concern for the belief that the facts must always form the chief emphasis in such a statement... is... in order that the creation of our behavior, our smallness, and our fate can be a man. — Albert Einstein

In a few weeks approximately 5,000 graduate and undergraduate students of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology will march into Kilian Court to meet the Class of ’85. It will be a warm and beautiful June day as the family and friends of the Class of ’85 most anxiously await the procession of black-robed figures, hoping to catch a glimpse of their sons and daughters. Time will seem the passing of those years, reflected in the dress of these special people, framed by majestic walls and open sky.

Amid the chirping of curious birds, the clicking of Nikes and the humming strains of “Pomp and Circumstance,” names will be called out by those who are SetUp from the bandstand from the President. The diplomas will be handed out, a certain feeling of triumph from having achieved something that was beyond our scope.

The two sides accomplished little. The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.

The group did not agree with the statistics and started chanting, “US corporate investment in South Africa.” Some members of E. Gray’s office. Gray cited some statistics about the level of investment. Then can they debate intelligently rather than engaging in an argument. The two sides accomplished little.