West Germans examine recent security damage — The most serious loss for West German intelligence was the defection of Hans Joachim Tiedge, the official in charge of Bonn's fight against East German spies, Margarette Hohler, a key secretary in the defense and foreign department of President Richard von Weizacker's office, is believed to have been an East German spy since 1968.
South African government suspends debt repayment — The South African government suspended repayments for four months on the principal of most of the country's $16.5 billion foreign debt. Exchange control regulations would closely monitor foreign investors withdrawing money. South African Finance Minister Barred J. da Plessis said that negotiations will begin soon on rescheduling the debt. He hinted that South Africa's creditors will be given the choice of accepting repayment over a much longer period or having their money virtually frozen there. The suspension is due to what the government calls a "cold feet crisis.

Gorbachev views summit prospects with caution — Soviet chief Mikhail S. Gorbachev referred to "lack of confidence" between the United States and the Soviet Union and a "campaign of hatred" by the Reagan administration in an interview. Relations "are continuing to deteriorate, the arms race is intensifying and the war threat is not subsiding," said the Soviet leader.

Elena heads for Gulf Coast — Hurricane Elena, which stalled at sea for two days, strengthened to a major hurricane with sustained winds of 125 mph Sunday and headed toward the Gulf Coast, where the second evacuation in four days was ordered. More than 400,000 people were told to flee the storm. Elena was reclassified from a Category Two to a Category Three hurricane on a scale of ferocity from one to five.

New life breathed into communications satellite — Astronaut James van Hoften hefted a seven ton satellite over his head Sunday and then shoved it into orbit. It was the second time a satellite was launched by hand and it ended a repair in space by the crew of the space shuttle Discovery on a satellite which malfunctioned in space during April.

Study shows 20 percent of high school students get drunk weekly — One in five high school students admits to getting drunk at least once a week, and one in four has smoked marijuana, according to a survey by Family Circle magazine. The survey and the National Parent's Resource Institute for Drug Education also said drug and alcohol abuse is spreading into grammar school.

Sports
Spartan Sun scores big with victory — Mary Ryan raced her wedding anniversary gift, Spartan Sun, at Norden where he took the shortest route home and emerged triumphant in the 51st running of the $100,000 Wonderland Derby. Dutch Bahamas finished second, a half length ahead of Rustica. "I really didn't think my dog could do it," said Ryan.

Weather
Fainting, anyone? — Today should be sunny, with highs in the 70s. Wind will be flowing at about six mph. Debbie Reis
