Gray calls for smaller class

By Katie Schwartz

Protesting on Monday morning, April 14, said he would tell the Academic Senate that the next year's incoming class should be smaller.

"We need to have this level of crowdfunding again," Gray said. About 50 students are currently crowdfunding, including some in some Institute Houses. The crowdfunding effort exceeded 195 dormitory rooms.

Gray said he would raise tuition to maintain a constant tuition with a smaller class. The " Txt...

Almost 400 pledge during dry rush

By Craig Jungwirth and Simon L. Gertler

Three hundred and eighty students pledged fraternities and independent living groups in a rush yesterday as the new Office of the Dean for Student Affairs alcohol policy.

The Policy Statement on the Use of Alcohol places restrictions on the consumption of alcohol in common areas and at certain times throughout the weekend. It additionally prohibits drinking by persons under the age of 21.

The Interfraternity Conference (IFC) reports that alcohol is a violation.

Andrew Hoffman, who had worked on the MIT Daily for about three hundred eighty freshmen, transferred into erclass students had pledged fraternities and independent living groups, according to Associ...

The IFC reports that alcohol is a violation.

Andrew Hoffman, who had worked on the MIT Daily for about three hundred eighty freshmen, transferred into erclass students had pledged fraternities and independent living groups, according to Associ...