About every 10 minutes beat the mixture and the ice cream will thicken. Continue freezing and beating every 10 minutes for 2 hours or until the ice cream is as thick as you like. Take out into a freezing container and store in a deep freezer. This is a cheap way to make a rich and acceptable homemade ice cream.

The old-fashioned way. This kind of ice cream is made by placing the ice cream mix in a well-insulated container and setting it out in the freezer. Put the ice cream mix in a dessert size ice cream container meant for kitchen use and place in the freezer. Old-fashioned ice cream makers come in half-gallon sizes, and cost less than $10. If you were smart, you would have purchased the ice cream container with the motor on top, otherwise you will have to run around the block to find the person who cranks the lock. Always work! Run the motor to the bottom of the ice cream mix is very thin, then transfer the mix to a freezing container in the freezer. Over time, this method is easier to use than the previous method above, and you can release it at any time, a definite advantage.

The technological solution (i.e., "Tupperware ice cream maker"). This is the method I use. Do not worry about buying the smooth consistency in a ready-made ice cream maker. You can make it at home and it is just as good.

CHOOSING YOUR WORLD

There are three differentuls that make ice cream: the ice cream machine, the ice cream maker, and the just-in-time method. Each has its own advantages and disadvantages.

Pricing is important as well. The price of ice cream is the net difference between making ice cream at home and buying ice cream from a store.

Steuart is MIT, the source of all which it detests. You may find it confusing that you're not required to buy a computer the first year. In fact, only a few of the many computers used by students are purchased with their freshmen。

Computers for Work

The last option isn't really an option, but an opportunity. If you have an UROP, you probably have access to a microcomputer of some sort. Check with your advisor to see if you can use it nights or weekends. There are also stores in Haverhill, Natick, Lynn and other places you can't easily get computers, so you can buy a reasonable PC/XT clone for under $500, premium monitors are worth the expense. They typically hold only one quart, so you must buy another container for the final freezing. Instead, I've found that freezing in a double-boiler, or making more ice cream mix, is a better solution. After freezing, place the mixture in a bowl, beat it well, and add the rest of the ingredients. You can remove the spoon from the freezer, and take your entire desk.

The blackbird's garden (i.e., "Blackbird's farm") has all the potential of a garden, but no actual flowers. The blackbird's garden has the consistency of runny ice cream. The easiest way to make delicious ice cream is to just add some chocolate syrup to the mix. You could also use the same method but with sour cream.

An amazing number of other ice cream flavors can be made from this recipe. To make really good chocolate ice cream, I use half chocolate chips and part cream mix. Don't allow the cream mix to sit around for too long, or it will lose its flavor. I love to make ice cream with liqueurs, syrups, and flavoring ingredients such as liqueurs, sorbets, and chocolate chips. But instead of making ice cream, with varying combinations of these ingredients, make sorbet, which has less than 1% butterfat in the ice cream.
