On The Town
Friday, October 11

Anita Holdit, a Dane who spent five years traveling 11,800 miles in the US, will take part in a question/answer forum from 1-3 pm in 331 Holdit. Holdit will present a view of the US from the bottom up, and will be available to tell of his rich experience in more than 400 American homes — from the poorest Southern sharecroppers to some of America's wealthiest families, of his infiltration of a KKK meeting, and of his work with prisoners in San Francisco, and in many other settings.

The MIT Community Players give their final production of Bertold Brecht's Galilei tonight at 8pm, in Kresge Little Theater. Tickets are $5, $4 for students and senior citizens. The performance will be repeated Oct. 12, 13, 17, 18, 19 and 20.

LSC presents Dumbo, starring a grey, animated elephant with big ears. LSC has scheduled no less than three screenings to prevent potential crowding problems: at 3, 6:30 and 9pm in 26-100. Be sure to bring your MIT or Wellesley ID for proof of sufficient intellectual capacity.

Thursday, October 11

LSC presents two lectures today. At 2pm in 9-150, Dr. Sally Ride, the astronaut, will talk about current and future space programs. A film clip from one of her missions will be shown. At 6pm in 10-50, MIT President Paul Gray will chart MIT's course for the near future. Admission to both lectures is free.

Also note:
On Oct. 31, L'Orchestrte de la Salute Romane will give an all-Ravel concert in Kresge Auditorium at 8pm. For tickets, call 253-3485.
