Gray seeks to drop charges

(Continued from page 1)

Gray refuses to change his decision. "I have some responsibility for safety on this campus," he said. The administration was "trying to keep some communication open," Dickson explained, although "we did not discuss the removal with the students. It was not our intention to arrest students."

The removal was completed early in the morning so there would be "less potential for resistance," Gray explained. "I'm not in favor of Monday morning quarterbacking," said Professor Carl Kayser. Kayser said he would agree to the postponement if the administration would consider paying the students court costs.

Gray refused to change the decision not to reimburse the students.

Professor Stephan L. Chorover responded. "The decision to keep the costs was made prior to the faculty meeting. The Institute is not above accepting responsibility for its actions. Our choices should be based on what is right for its students. Our choices also have consequences.

Lawrence K. Kolodney G, who was also arrested during the shanty removal, said, "MIT should be held to a higher standard . . . Dissent should be encouraged." The arrests were "a great blow against academic freedom," Kolodney said.

"I was not interested in getting arrested," Rosén told the faculty. "Someone had to defend the students' rights to protest."

Undergraduate Association President Bryan R. Moser '87 said he was "strongly encouraged by the vote of the faculty.

"At issue was the willingness of the faculty to criticize the administration," he said. "On the other hand the faculty recognized the problems of the eight students, and the signal that such arrests gave to the academic community. I'm glad that they chose the students' concerns."

Moser was distressed over the lack of communication between the administration and the Coalition. "I was distressed at President Gray's stance not to consider a change in position considering court costs. We need discussions, communications, and negotiations. That stance is contrary to such a call."

"Students should be distressed at the premature arrests (by the authorities)," Moser said. "Students should be contacted before such actions are taken, he added.

Moser, Nell to address Executive Committee of MIT Corporation

By August L. Fish

Undergraduate Association President Bryan R. Moser '87 and Graduate Student Council President Janine M. Nell G will meet today with the Executive Committee of the MIT Corporation.

"We will present results of the referendum (and undergraduate referendum advising) and make a proposal about the divestment issue," Moser said. Moser would say nothing further about what they were planning to discuss at the meeting.

The meeting was also mentioned because of the agreement of the Corporation to let us meet with them," Nell said. In the past the Executive Committee has denied students the right to speak at their meetings. As recently as Mar. 7, students from the MIT Coalition Against Apartheid attempted unsuccessfully to address the full Corporation.

Birth control is up to you.

Protect yourself against an unwanted pregnancy. Choose a contraceptive that's right for you. Talking with a Preterm counselor who understands can help you work through this personal decision. And, you can depend on our experienced medical staff for high-quality gynecological care.

Call 730-6200. We answer a broad range of health concerns affecting women.

Preterm Gynecology

1842 Beacon Street, Brookline, MA 02146

Protect yourself against an unwanted pregnancy. Choose a contraceptive that's right for you. Talking with a Preterm counselor who understands can help you work through this personal decision. And, you can depend on our experienced medical staff for high-quality gynecological care.

Call 730-6200. We answer a broad range of health concerns affecting women.

Preterm Gynecology

1842 Beacon Street, Brookline, MA 02146

Birth control is up to you.

Protect yourself against an unwanted pregnancy. Choose a contraceptive that's right for you. Talking with a Preterm counselor who understands can help you work through this personal decision. And, you can depend on our experienced medical staff for high-quality gynecological care.

Call 730-6200. We answer a broad range of health concerns affecting women.

Preterm Gynecology

1842 Beacon Street, Brookline, MA 02146

Reserve your caps & gowns!

Gray seeks to drop charges

(Continued from page 1)

Gray refuses to change his decision. "I have some responsibility for safety on this campus," he said. The administration was "trying to keep some communication open," Dickson explained, although "we did not discuss the removal with the students. It was not our intention to arrest students."

The removal was completed early in the morning so there would be "less potential for resistance," Gray explained. "I'm not in favor of Monday morning quarterbacking," said Professor Carl Kayser. Kayser said he would agree to the postponement if the administration would consider paying the students court costs.

Gray refused to change the decision not to reimburse the students.

Professor Stephan L. Chorover responded. "The decision to keep the costs was made prior to the faculty meeting. The Institute is not above accepting responsibility for its actions. Our choices should be based on what is right for its students. Our choices also have consequences.

Lawrence K. Kolodney G, who was also arrested during the shanty removal, said, "MIT should be held to a higher standard . . . Dissent should be encouraged." The arrests were "a great blow against academic freedom," Kolodney said.

"I was not interested in getting arrested," Rosén told the faculty. "Someone had to defend the students' rights to protest."

Undergraduate Association President Bryan R. Moser '87 said he was "strongly encouraged by the vote of the faculty.

"At issue was the willingness of the faculty to criticize the administration," he said. "On the other hand the faculty recognized the problems of the eight students, and the signal that such arrests gave to the academic community. I'm glad that they chose the students' concerns."

Moser was distressed over the lack of communication between the administration and the Coalition. "I was distressed at President Gray's stance not to consider a change in position considering court costs. We need discussions, communications, and negotiations. That stance is contrary to such a call."

"Students should be distressed at the premature arrests (by the authorities)," Moser said. "Students should be contacted before such actions are taken, he added.

Moser, Nell to address Executive Committee of MIT Corporation

By August L. Fish

Undergraduate Association President Bryan R. Moser '87 and Graduate Student Council President Janine M. Nell G will meet today with the Executive Committee of the MIT Corporation.

"We will present results of the referendum (and undergraduate referendum advising) and make a proposal about the divestment issue," Moser said. Moser would say nothing further about what they were planning to discuss at the meeting.

The meeting was also mentioned because of the agreement of the Corporation to let us meet with them," Nell said. In the past the Executive Committee has denied students the right to speak at their meetings. As recently as Mar. 7, students from the MIT Coalition Against Apartheid attempted unsuccessfully to address the full Corporation.

Birth control is up to you.

Protect yourself against an unwanted pregnancy. Choose a contraceptive that's right for you. Talking with a Preterm counselor who understands can help you work through this personal decision. And, you can depend on our experienced medical staff for high-quality gynecological care.

Call 730-6200. We answer a broad range of health concerns affecting women.

Preterm Gynecology

1842 Beacon Street, Brookline, MA 02146

Reserve your caps & gowns!

Gray seeks to drop charges

(Continued from page 1)

Gray refuses to change his decision. "I have some responsibility for safety on this campus," he said. The administration was "trying to keep some communication open," Dickson explained, although "we did not discuss the removal with the students. It was not our intention to arrest students."

The removal was completed early in the morning so there would be "less potential for resistance," Gray explained. "I'm not in favor of Monday morning quarterbacking," said Professor Carl Kayser. Kayser said he would agree to the postponement if the administration would consider paying the students court costs.

Gray refused to change the decision not to reimburse the students.

Professor Stephan L. Chorover responded. "The decision to keep the costs was made prior to the faculty meeting. The Institute is not above accepting responsibility for its actions. Our choices should be based on what is right for its students. Our choices also have consequences.

Lawrence K. Kolodney G, who was also arrested during the shanty removal, said, "MIT should be held to a higher standard . . . Dissent should be encouraged." The arrests were "a great blow against academic freedom," Kolodney said.

"I was not interested in getting arrested," Rosén told the faculty. "Someone had to defend the students' rights to protest."

Undergraduate Association President Bryan R. Moser '87 said he was "strongly encouraged by the vote of the faculty.

"At issue was the willingness of the faculty to criticize the administration," he said. "On the other hand the faculty recognized the problems of the eight students, and the signal that such arrests gave to the academic community. I'm glad that they chose the students' concerns."

Moser was distressed over the lack of communication between the administration and the Coalition. "I was distressed at President Gray's stance not to consider a change in position considering court costs. We need discussions, communications, and negotiations. That stance is contrary to such a call."

"Students should be distressed at the premature arrests (by the authorities)," Moser said. "Students should be contacted before such actions are taken, he added.

Moser, Nell to address Executive Committee of MIT Corporation

By August L. Fish

Undergraduate Association President Bryan R. Moser '87 and Graduate Student Council President Janine M. Nell G will meet today with the Executive Committee of the MIT Corporation.

"We will present results of the referendum (and undergraduate referendum advising) and make a proposal about the divestment issue," Moser said. Moser would say nothing further about what they were planning to discuss at the meeting.

The meeting was also mentioned because of the agreement of the Corporation to let us meet with them," Nell said. In the past the Executive Committee has denied students the right to speak at their meetings. As recently as Mar. 7, students from the MIT Coalition Against Apartheid attempted unsuccessfully to address the full Corporation.

Birth control is up to you.

Protect yourself against an unwanted pregnancy. Choose a contraceptive that's right for you. Talking with a Preterm counselor who understands can help you work through this personal decision. And, you can depend on our experienced medical staff for high-quality gynecological care.

Call 730-6200. We answer a broad range of health concerns affecting women.

Preterm Gynecology

1842 Beacon Street, Brookline, MA 02146

Reserve your caps & gowns!