I

I

moms and firing rockets at several buildings, including a stronghold in Southern Lebanon yesterday, dropping bombs and fired 33 rockets at a building in western Beirut. Assistant Defense Minister Ferhat Mehenni said that all the fighters returned safely to base. Beirut was relatively quiet after a series of Israeli attacks in recent days. (AP)

The Israeli raid comes amid increased guerrilla activity against Israeli-backed forces in the border buffer zone between the two countries.

Bush confers with Saudis

Vice President Bush said yesterday that he was not seeking oil production controls from Saudi Arabia but

World

israeli jets bomb sidon

"Israel's decision not to attack during the Muslim holy month of Ramadan was widely considered a" consequence of Saudi Arabia's decision last fall to increase its production to about 3.9 million barrels a day, although the global oil supply far exceeded the demand. (The New York Times)

Soviet cosmonauts speak from space

"... the situation is not a crisis and what is to be done is to keep the lines open for dialogue and to maintain a watchful eye on the situation." - Leonid Kizim, commander of the Soviet space station Mir.

Average college tuition increases

"... the situation is not a crisis and what is to be done is to keep the lines open for dialogue and to maintain a watchful eye on the situation." - Leonid Kizim, commander of the Soviet space station Mir.

Local

Logan airport restricts smoking

Smokers passing through Logan International Airport will find it more difficult to get a cigarette. Logan officials introduced a new policy that restricts smoking in the terminals.

Nation

Supreme Court to examine no-warrant searches

The Supreme Court today agreed to consider a case that could expand police powers to search without a warrant. The Court will decide whether warrantless searches are reasonable under the Fourth Amendment.

Digital Equipment Corporation introduces new computer

DEC introduces new computer

"... the situation is not a crisis and what is to be done is to keep the lines open for dialogue and to maintain a watchful eye on the situation." - Leonid Kizim, commander of the Soviet space station Mir.

Sports

Reds take National League opener

"... the situation is not a crisis and what is to be done is to keep the lines open for dialogue and to maintain a watchful eye on the situation." - Leonid Kizim, commander of the Soviet space station Mir.

Youthful Polgar dazzles masters at NY Chess Open

"... the situation is not a crisis and what is to be done is to keep the lines open for dialogue and to maintain a watchful eye on the situation." - Leonid Kizim, commander of the Soviet space station Mir.

NHL postseason faceoffs set

The NHL regular season came to an end Sunday, as the second round of playoffs began. The Boston Red Sox are in the playoffs for the first time since 1986. (AP)

Reagan throws a wild pitch

"... the situation is not a crisis and what is to be done is to keep the lines open for dialogue and to maintain a watchful eye on the situation." - Leonid Kizim, commander of the Soviet space station Mir.

Weather

broughaha

A mixed bag would be the best way to describe our weekend. Although I do not expect much in the way of rain over the next two days, the occasional breeze will add a refreshing touch to the day. (The New York Times)