Ortega says Hesilien ruling was justified

Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega said on Friday that his government does not intend to seek improvement relations with the United States, Ortega said.

The Nicaraguan people will back whatever decision is made, Ortega added.

Swiss officials say reducing nukes would be destabilizing

Eliminating Europe's nuclear deterrent must be linked to serious efforts to balance conventional forces, according to Swiss Foreign Minister Edouard Borel. Nuclear weapons provide "a sort of mutual deterrence in the East," Borel said, and with unbalanced conventional forces might once again bring on the "tension of war.

Barclays withdraws from South Africa

British-based Barclays Bank announced its withdrawal from South Africa yesterday. The main reasons was an unfavourable South African economy, the bank said. Barclays sold its interest in a group of South African investments for $236 million. Barclays Bank is the largest foreign firm to pull out, and some brokers fear that other foreign firms will follow.

Dionne dies in drunk driving accident

Eighteen-year-old Thomas Dionne was pronounced dead at Lowell General Hospital Friday night shortly after he was pronounced dead at Lowell General Hospital Friday night shortly after his car was found.

The car was left the meeting renewing his charge that Reagan broke the law by failing to inform Congress of the sale for several months.

Anthony Beilonsen (D-CA) claimed that President Reagan's arms deals with Iran were not only illegal and a reversal of policy, it was a "failure."
