Women's hockey, Colgate play to tie

... and was killed as MIT controlled the play for the boards and never failed to pick up the men in the slot.

With the Beavers having done so well during the first period, the Colgate players were surprised when the second one refused to yield any pressure. The Beavers were able to maintain a one goal lead for over five minutes before the Beavers went in on the breakaway with a unassisted goal by Jim Sisson '88.

In the second period, the Beavers were not able to repeat this feat as they were outshot by 15-10. The Colgate forwards were able to develop some good two-on-one breakaways that resulted in no goals.

The Beavers were never able to gain another goal as they failed to convert on several power play opportunities. The game ended in a 2-2 tie.

MIT ski teams complete strong building seasons

All three of the MIT teams had strong seasons, with both the men's and women's teams finishing in the top ten of the American Collegiate Skiing Conference (ACSC) and the women's team finishing in the top five of the Eastern Intercollegiate Ski Association (EISA). The men's team, led by captain Scott McFarland '89, had a strong season, winning six of their seven meets. The women's team, under the leadership of co-captains Joyce Mal and Kim McDade '90, also had a successful season, finishing third in the EISA.

In May the women's team, led by co-captain Kim McDade '90, finished as the national runner-up in the NCAA championships. The men's team also had a strong showing, finishing fourth in the NCAA championships.
