These Are Some of the Opinions Expressed on the UA Elections Graffiti Sheet Last Thursday.
Better to represent the students as a whole than to represent a small minority by declaring a fixed immutable position. As President one must listen to everyone if one is to be effective.

To be an effective leader one must listen, but to be effective we need to voice our opinions and let the administration know what we want by voting. What do you want to happen? Vote!

This event is over publicised. How much money does each candidate get anyway?

Nothing. All the campaigns are paid for by the candidates either out of their own pockets or from donations. Sorry if we’re overwhelming people. We want people to vote this year! (UAP Candidate)

I think they [the candidates] will find it worthwhile in the long run to try to represent the students. Becky Thomas UAP ’86-’87.

I am sorry but this all seems kind of silly. Who cares which candidate gets in? They all make the same promises, “We will listen to you.” How do you choose between identical platforms? (random student)

I just hope people will vote based on knowledge this year.

Vote tomorrow, March 11, in Lobby 10, at the Student Center, at Walker/East Campus, or across the river at the Boston end of the Harvard Bridge (alternate location: Sigma Phi Epsilon).
