World

Shultz-Moscow meeting goes into overtime

A top White House official says we'll probably know who's up for the super-sovereign, following Secretary of State George Shultz's visit to Moscow. Shultz spent more than seven hours yesterday in meetings with his Soviet counterpart, Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze, as well as a White House official, Roland push for detente and keeping the vigil from last summer. The Soviet News Agency TASS says the issue being discussed is the arms control program.

Tension mounts on West Bank

Israeli soldiers arrested a university campus in the occupied West Bank to disperse hundreds of rock-throwing demonstrators. An army spokesman said a Palestinian youth was shot to death. The violent clash comes two days after a funeral for a youth killed in the recent fighting in Gaza.

Tutu calls for release of detainees

The Vatican's(u) announced a new policy that will allow journalists to accompany visiting dignitaries. The new policy was announced by a Vatican spokesman who said the policy will allow journalists to accompany visiting dignitaries. The new policy was announced by a Vatican spokesman who said the policy will allow journalists to accompany visiting dignitaries.

Pope ends Chile visit

Pope John Paul II visited in Vatican City after a tour to South America. He has condemned the violence he said he saw between police and leftist demonstrators in Chile. The Pope added that he was also impressed by the dignity of the Chilean people who attended his outdoor mass in the face of the violence.

Nation

Hart announces candidacy

Denouncing right-wing ideology and narrow special interests, former Colorado Governor Gary Hart announced today that he will run for the 1988 Democratic presidential nomination. Speaking in Denver, Hart said, "I am running because I love my country." He charged that right-wing ideology has skewed the nation's priorities, saying that America in recent years has lost its moral compass.

Texaco files for bankruptcy

Texas oil giant Texaco is filing for bankruptcy, the company announced today. Texaco, which suffered a $1 billion loss last quarter, said the move was necessary to avoid putting the company into bankruptcy court. The company closed down 315 points.

Whitehead to visit "Baby M"

Lawyers for Mary Beth Whitehead say she'll resume visiting "Baby M" this week at a secret time and place. The baby's case has been followed by the media since the child was born in June. The mother, Mary Beth Whitehead, was charged with embezzlement and tearful.

Condoms available to homosexual inmates

The New York Health Commissioner said homosexual inmates in city jails will be able to obtain condoms on request. It's part of a pilot program to prevent the spread of AIDS. The program's effectiveness is being monitored, and it's expected to be expanded to other jails.

AMA president calls for morality to combat AIDS

A new morality is what's needed to fight AIDS, according to the president of the American Medical Association. The president, Dr. John Coury has told a news conference in Detroit that new rules and regulations are needed to combat AIDS. He said that new rules and regulations are needed to combat AIDS.

Polygraph tests recommended for embassy guards

A report recommending that randomlie detector tests be given to Marine guards stationed at U.S. embassies is expected to be released in the wake of the Sex-Scandals scandal at the Moscow Embassy. The report has been expected for weeks, and it's expected to have significant implications for American diplomatic operations.

John Hinckley, Jr., who tried to assassinate President Ford in 1975, has been released from a prison after serving a 13-year sentence. Hinckley is now 43 years old and is expected to receive a parole hearing soon.

Local

State officials favor 55 mph

Leaving the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit alone. That's the advice of state officials in a report issued by the Massachusetts Department of Transportation. The report recommends maintaining the 55 mph limit, saying it is a safe and effective way to control traffic.

Reagan criticizes Dukakis for Seaforth delay

Massachusetts Governor Edward Kennedy criticized President Reagan yesterday for saying that Governor Michael Dukakis shouldn't have veto power over the Seaforth, New Hampshire, nuclear power plant. The President dismissed the issue in an interview with the Manchester Union Leader. Dukakis has delayed Seaforth operations by declining to sign an emergency evacuation plan for Massachusetts communities within 10 miles of the facility. Markey said Reagan three years ago supported the rights of state and local governments in handling evacuation plans without federal interference.

Amy Carter testifies on behalf of demonstrators

Former president Jimmy Carter's daughter Amy testified yesterday in the trial of four demonstrators at the Anti-Apartheid protest at the White House. Amy was one of the demonstrators arrested and charged with violating the nation's anti-riot laws.

Boston Five merges with New World Bank

Officials of the New World Bank, a financial institution, announced a merger with the Boston Five Bancorp. The merger is expected to create a new institution with assets of $2 billion.

John Hinckley, Jr., who tried to assassinate President Ford in 1975, has been released from a prison after serving a 13-year sentence. Hinckley is now 43 years old and is expected to receive a parole hearing soon.

Sports

Mickey Mantle hospitalized

Former New York Yankee star Mickey Mantle was listed in fair condition after being hospitalized in Irving, Texas, Sunday night, suffering chest pains. The 55-year-old was rushed to a hospital where he was treated for chest pains. He was later transferred to a hospital in Irving, Texas, where he was treated for chest pains.

Mize wins Masters

Augusta, Georgia-born golfer Larry Mize chipped a shot 30 yards from the second extra playoff hole at the 20th Masters title. The victory was worth $162,000, and Mize had to beat Greg Norman of Australia for the title.

Clemens signs two-year contract

Clemens, who had been with the Detroit Tigers for seven years, signed a two-year contract with the Cleveland Indians. The contract was worth $3 million, and Clemens said he was excited about the opportunity to play for the Indians.

Weather

A brief respite

After the somewhat unexpected winter weather of yesterday, today's abundant sunshine should be enjoyed today, however, the day itself is expected to be quite warm. It should be enjoyed today, however, because tomorrow's weather is expected to be quite cool.

Forecast by Chris Davis

Compiled by Julie Young Kim