Newspaper: The Tech

Volume 107, Number 27

MIT charges two after graduation protest

By Andrew L. Fish

MIT has taken two charges in Middlesex County Court against two students in the aftermath of a whistle-blowing protest at commencement June 1. Campus Police Chief James Oliveri said the charges were precipitated by a protest which involved "normal standards."

The protesters claimed MIT fixed charges in an attempt to break up the protest which had organized the demonstration.

President Paul E. Gray '54 addresses the Class of 1987.

"Gray speaks of integrity; Olsen encourages enterprise

By Carl A. LaCombe

Unlike last year, there was not a sit-in within miles of Killicourt as 1762 graduates received degrees at MIT's 121st commencement.

MIT President Paul E. Gray '54 sold the graduates to "engage this world with the full measure of your integrity. . . . Intellec tual integrity is solving a problem, Gray said, "and to the ability to view the problem, its possible solutions, and their consequences in a comprehensive manner, in a manner that is intellectually honest."

Gray quoted recently publicized instances of "institutions and people who have failed -- in some cases betrayed -- the public good" have been the result of a lack of intellectual integ

He cited the failure of NASA officials to heed engineers' warnings.

SAC petitions for better location

By Thomas T. Huang

The Student Center Committee appealed to the MIT administration last week to reconsider a proposal to move the SAC, 24-hour coffeehouse and gymnasium to the basement of the MIT Student Center.

The proposal came as part of a $27.5 million project to renovate the building starting Aug. 1.

West Plaza Director of Operations Stephen D. Immerman, who is overseeing the renovation, offered SAC representatives a second option in which their operations could be moved instead to the third floor, into the space currently occupied by the Campus Activities office, the SAC office, and the Center Lounge.

President

By Thomas T. Huang

To: Sen. Joseph B. Biden Jr. (D-DE), a man seeking the presidency of the United States, destiny is everything.

Television/line

Welcome Project Interphase

President Paul E. Gray '54 addresses the Class of 1987.

"Gray speaks of integrity; Olsen encourages enterprise

By Carl A. LaCombe

Unlike last year, there was not a sit-in within miles of Killian Court as 1762 graduates received degrees at MIT's 121st commencement.

MIT President Paul E. Gray '54 sold the graduates to "engage this world with the full measure of your integrity. . . . Intellec tual integrity is solving a problem, Gray said, "and to the ability to view the problem, its possible solutions, and their consequences in a comprehensive manner, in a manner that is intellectually honest."

Gray quoted recently publicized instances of "institutions and people who have failed -- in some cases betrayed -- the public good" have been the result of a lack of intellectual integ

He cited the failure of NASA officials to heed engineers' warnings.

SAC petitions for better location

By Thomas T. Huang

The Student Center Committee appealed to the MIT administration last week to reconsider a proposal to move the SAC, 24-hour coffeehouse and gymnasium to the basement of the MIT Student Center.

The proposal came as part of a $27.5 million project to renovate the building starting Aug. 1.

West Plaza Director of Operations Stephen D. Immerman, who is overseeing the renovation, offered SAC representatives a second option in which their operations could be moved instead to the third floor, into the space currently occupied by the Campus Activities office, the SAC office, and the Center Lounge.

President

By Thomas T. Huang

To: Sen. Joseph B. Biden Jr. (D-DE), a man seeking the presidency of the United States, destiny is everything.

Television/line

Welcome Project Interphase

President Paul E. Gray '54 addresses the Class of 1987.

"Gray speaks of integrity; Olsen encourages enterprise

By Carl A. LaCombe

Unlike last year, there was not a sit-in within miles of Killian Court as 1762 graduates received degrees at MIT's 121st commencement.

MIT President Paul E. Gray '54 sold the graduates to "engage this world with the full measure of your integrity. . . . Intellec tual integrity is solving a problem, Gray said, "and to the ability to view the problem, its possible solutions, and their consequences in a comprehensive manner, in a manner that is intellectually honest."

Gray quoted recently publicized instances of "institutions and people who have failed -- in some cases betrayed -- the public good" have been the result of a lack of intellectual integ

He cited the failure of NASA officials to heed engineers' warnings.

SAC petitions for better location

By Thomas T. Huang

The Student Center Committee appealed to the MIT administration last week to reconsider a proposal to move the SAC, 24-hour coffeehouse and gymnasium to the basement of the MIT Student Center.

The proposal came as part of a $27.5 million project to renovate the building starting Aug. 1.

West Plaza Director of Operations Stephen D. Immerman, who is overseeing the renovation, offered SAC representatives a second option in which their operations could be moved instead to the third floor, into the space currently occupied by the Campus Activities office, the SAC office, and the Center Lounge.

President

By Thomas T. Huang

To: Sen. Joseph B. Biden Jr. (D-DE), a man seeking the presidency of the United States, destiny is everything.

Television/line

Welcome Project Interphase

President Paul E. Gray '54 addresses the Class of 1987.

"Gray speaks of integrity; Olsen encourages enterprise

By Carl A. LaCombe

Unlike last year, there was not a sit-in within miles of Killian Court as 1762 graduates received degrees at MIT's 121st commencement.

MIT President Paul E. Gray '54 sold the graduates to "engage this world with the full measure of your integrity. . . . Intellec tual integrity is solving a problem, Gray said, "and to the ability to view the problem, its possible solutions, and their consequences in a comprehensive manner, in a manner that is intellectually honest."

Gray quoted recently publicized instances of "institutions and people who have failed -- in some cases betrayed -- the public good" have been the result of a lack of intellectual integ

He cited the failure of NASA officials to heed engineers' warnings.

SAC petitions for better location

By Thomas T. Huang

The Student Center Committee appealed to the MIT administration last week to reconsider a proposal to move the SAC, 24-hour coffeehouse and gymnasium to the basement of the MIT Student Center.

The proposal came as part of a $27.5 million project to renovate the building starting Aug. 1.

West Plaza Director of Operations Stephen D. Immerman, who is overseeing the renovation, offered SAC representatives a second option in which their operations could be moved instead to the third floor, into the space currently occupied by the Campus Activities office, the SAC office, and the Center Lounge.

President

By Thomas T. Huang

To: Sen. Joseph B. Biden Jr. (D-DE), a man seeking the presidency of the United States, destiny is everything.

Television/line

Welcome Project Interphase

President Paul E. Gray '54 addresses the Class of 1987.

"Gray speaks of integrity; Olsen encourages enterprise

By Carl A. LaCombe

Unlike last year, there was not a sit-in within miles of Killian Court as 1762 graduates received degrees at MIT's 121st commencement.

MIT President Paul E. Gray '54 sold the graduates to "engage this world with the full measure of your integrity. . . . Intellec tual integrity is solving a problem, Gray said, "and to the ability to view the problem, its possible solutions, and their consequences in a comprehensive manner, in a manner that is intellectually honest."

Gray quoted recently publicized instances of "institutions and people who have failed -- in some cases betrayed -- the public good" have been the result of a lack of intellectual integ

He cited the failure of NASA officials to heed engineers' warnings.

SAC petitions for better location

By Thomas T. Huang

The Student Center Committee appealed to the MIT administration last week to reconsider a proposal to move the SAC, 24-hour coffeehouse and gymnasium to the basement of the MIT Student Center.

The proposal came as part of a $27.5 million project to renovate the building starting Aug. 1.

West Plaza Director of Operations Stephen D. Immerman, who is overseeing the renovation, offered SAC representatives a second option in which their operations could be moved instead to the third floor, into the space currently occupied by the Campus Activities office, the SAC office, and the Center Lounge.

President

By Thomas T. Huang

To: Sen. Joseph B. Biden Jr. (D-DE), a man seeking the presidency of the United States, destiny is everything.

Television/line

Welcome Project Interphase

President Paul E. Gray '54 addresses the Class of 1987.

"Gray speaks of integrity; Olsen encourages enterprise

By Carl A. LaCombe

Unlike last year, there was not a sit-in within miles of Killian Court as 1762 graduates received degrees at MIT's 121st commencement.

MIT President Paul E. Gray '54 sold the graduates to "engage this world with the full measure of your integrity. . . . Intellec tual integrity is solving a problem, Gray said, "and to the ability to view the problem, its possible solutions, and their consequences in a comprehensive manner, in a manner that is intellectually honest."

Gray quoted recently publicized instances of "institutions and people who have failed -- in some cases betrayed -- the public good" have been the result of a lack of intellectual integ

He cited the failure of NASA officials to heed engineers' warnings.

SAC petitions for better location

By Thomas T. Huang

The Student Center Committee appealed to the MIT administration last week to reconsider a proposal to move the SAC, 24-hour coffeehouse and gymnasium to the basement of the MIT Student Center.

The proposal came as part of a $27.5 million project to renovate the building starting Aug. 1.

West Plaza Director of Operations Stephen D. Immerman, who is overseeing the renovation, offered SAC representatives a second option in which their operations could be moved instead to the third floor, into the space currently occupied by the Campus Activities office, the SAC office, and the Center Lounge.

President

By Thomas T. Huang

To: Sen. Joseph B. Biden Jr. (D-DE), a man seeking the presidency of the United States, destiny is everything.

Television/line