Rape is growing concern at MIT

(Continued from page 4)

It is the responsibility of the entire MIT community to work actively to create and maintain an environment safe for all who live, learn and work here. We need to provide safe access to resources that are essential and enriching part of our education. No stage of our educational career should suffer from restrictions on these resources.

To a large degree, the MIT Campus Police shoulder the job of fulfilling the responsibility of protecting students. But they cannot do it alone. There are issues that affect a growing number of MIT students that have not been adequately addressed by them over the last year.

With more women entering MIT each year, MIT is necessarily considering the threat of rape. The previously mentioned flyer stated that 90 rapes may have occurred since 1975. This figure now seems to be overly-aggressive, but a more reliable system is needed to address this issue.

But statistics suggest that only one in ten rapes is ever reported; this is a number that MIT and students should be aware of. One probably knows that their ability to report a rape is an issue at MIT.

There should be a group of students, faculty, and/or committees who are organized to deal with rape as an issue at MIT.

This is simply a question about sexual assault and thus a group that recognizes this fact should be formed.

A group, which would probably be named after the group that deals with dealing with rape and related issues, is necessary to be able to deal with rape effectively.

In the past year, there has been a whole lot of bandwagoning towards the Coop. The Coop is a wonderful place to buy books, but they are not the only place to buy books. Thus, the Coop should not be the center of the universe. To make matters worse, there is a whole lot of debate on whether the Coop is the center, and then it goes too far to the Coop. The Coop is not the center of the universe.

Furthermore, we need to understand that the Coop is not the center of the universe. The Coop is not the center of the universe.

In this paper, I will discuss the issue of the Coop as a center and the myth of the Coop being the center of the universe.

First, I will discuss the issue of the Coop as a center. The Coop is not the center of the universe. The Coop is not the center of the universe.

Second, I will discuss the issue of the Coop being the center of the universe. The Coop is not the center of the universe. The Coop is not the center of the universe.

Finally, I will discuss the issue of the Coop being the center of the universe. The Coop is not the center of the universe.

Church recruiters need self-restraint

(Continued from page 4)

I am writing this letter in response to the article, "Acquaintance Rape," which was published in The Tech on September 11th. Osgood wrote about the issue of acquaintance rape at MIT. The article was written from the^ perspective of a woman who was raped.

It is my hope that this letter will help define this issue more clearly and suggest some steps for preventing acquaintance rape.

There are three main concerns as those of us who have voiced ours.

I also hope that insensitive reactions to legitimate student concerns are not typically received from MIT administrators, although I must again admit that it was unfair of the author of the article to label such a broad implantation. Such insensitive reactions can indeed cause students, especially new students, to develop some very negative opinions about the MIT. Don C. Bruston G

Furniture Systems for Office or Studio

Save on our new furniture systems for home, office, or studio. Magnavox computers are staples in a traditional desk for the office, available in black or white. Both systems are designed to be a fun time, but it is important to know which one is better for freshmen to be kept in mind.

With more women entering MIT each year, MIT is necessarily considering the threat of rape. The previously mentioned flyer stated that 90 rapes may have occurred since 1975. This figure now seems to be overly-aggressive, but a more reliable system is needed to address this issue.

But statistics suggest that only one in ten rapes is ever reported; this is a number that MIT and students should be aware of. One probably knows that their ability to report a rape is an issue at MIT.

There should be a group of students, faculty, and/or committees who are organized to deal with rape as an issue at MIT.

This is simply a question about sexual assault and thus a group that recognizes this fact should be formed.

A group, which would probably be named after the group that deals with dealing with rape and related issues, is necessary to be able to deal with rape effectively.

In the past year, there has been a whole lot of bandwagoning towards the Coop. The Coop is a wonderful place to buy books, but they are not the only place to buy books. Thus, the Coop should not be the center of the universe. To make matters worse, there is a whole lot of debate on whether the Coop is the center, and then it goes too far to the Coop. The Coop is not the center of the universe.

First, I will discuss the issue of the Coop as a center. The Coop is not the center of the universe. The Coop is not the center of the universe.

Second, I will discuss the issue of the Coop being the center of the universe. The Coop is not the center of the universe. The Coop is not the center of the universe.

Finally, I will discuss the issue of the Coop being the center of the universe. The Coop is not the center of the universe.

In this paper, I will discuss the issue of the Coop as a center. The Coop is not the center of the universe. The Coop is not the center of the universe.

Second, I will discuss the issue of the Coop being the center of the universe. The Coop is not the center of the universe. The Coop is not the center of the universe.

Finally, I will discuss the issue of the Coop being the center of the universe. The Coop is not the center of the universe.

I am writing this letter in response to the article, "Acquaintance Rape," which was published in The Tech on September 11th. Osgood wrote about the issue of acquaintance rape at MIT. The article was written from the^ perspective of a woman who was raped.

It is my hope that this letter will help define this issue more clearly and suggest some steps for preventing acquaintance rape.

There are three main concerns as those of us who have voiced ours.

I also hope that insensitive reactions to legitimate student concerns are not typically received from MIT administrators, although I must again admit that it was unfair of the author of the article to label such a broad implantation. Such insensitive reactions can indeed cause students, especially new students, to develop some very negative opinions about the MIT. Don C. Bruston G