of Music, Theater, Arts and Dance and that additional resources be provided to this section to allow the hiring of additional faculty in the theater and dance fields, Deutch said.

This recommendation has already been implemented, according to Deutch. Dramashop and Dance Workshop and the Shake-"The manager will be the one who handles all the money coming through the store, perhaps around $300,000 in revenue," Rodriguez said. "Therefore, the manager had to be someone whom we could trust. This meant that it did not have to be another someone in UA or a close friend.
However, everyone in the UA already has his own projects that I can't take them away from.
So, I suggested Jose because I know him and trust him completely."

The UA is still looking for people who will act as assistant managers and cashiers. Although the manager's position will be separated, you can tell the other positions have not yet been decided," Gonzalez said.

MIT plans to bolster arts program

(Continued from page 1)

arts program.

Deutch named three grounds for revitalization of the Visual Arts program. First, "there is a great interest among undergraduates in doing art," he said. Secondly, "the structure of the Visu-Al Arts program is complementary to the Department of Architecture and important to their intellectual interests."

Finally, "strengthening of the arts at MIT is consistent with the current community-wide interest in broadening the undergraduate educational experience at MIT," De-tuch said.

In the area of performing arts, the committee recommended that theater and dance be combined with the music section in the School of Humanities and Social Sciences, he said.

The committee also recom-

Your foreign language ability is valuable!

Translations into your native language are needed for industrisponsored by the MIT Medical Department. "Managing the Stress of Student Life" is a two-hour workshop filled with practical ideas that can help you maximize your abilities to meet the physical, mental, and social demands of your new life at MIT.

WHERE?:

October 8, 9, 10-11 a.m.

October 30, 2-4 p.m.

WHO?:

None

WHY?:

Because we like you.

SOME NEW STRESS STRATEGIES COULD HELP?

CALL TODAY

884-3900