Head of the Charles draws 200,000

By Anh The Vo

An MIT alumnus competed on the winning men's lightweight four team at the 23rd Annual Head of the Charles Regatta last Sunday. In addition, Professor Hartley Rogers Jr. finished second in the veterans single event, and the MIT varsity women's youth eight finished fourth in their event.

The regatta attracted 200,000 spectators and athletes from as far away as Canada, Mexico, and Germany. They competed along a three-mile course starting at the Boston University Boat House and finishing upstream past the Harvard Bridge. The route consisted of large treacherous bridges and turns — notably a sharp curve at Weeke's Foot bridges and turns — notably a sharp curve at Weeke's Foot bridges and turns.

The Ridgely Graduate Boat Club won the championship eight event in 14:03.08. The Ridley eight came from the Canadian national team which won the 1984 Olympic Gold Medal in the same event.

The women's championship eight event was won by the Boston Rowing Center's team in 16:18.50. The Boston Rowing Center is the national training center designated by both the US Rowing Association and the US Olympic Committee.

The MIT varsity men's crew team had only two entries, a championship four and a lightweight eight. While the men's lightweight four event was officially listed as being won by MIT, the crew is really the national men's team, with Skip Denham '87 being the only rower from MIT. They won the race in 16:48.28, leading out the fours from London Rowing Club (Canada), 16:38.16, and the Viking Rowing Association (New Jersey), 17:38.33, which finished second and third respectively.

The MIT's starting hole man were down 3-1 at halftime. But bad luck set in during the third quarter with 10:13 remaining when MIT's then faced Slippery Rock, playing heads-up polo, with advantage of Barnes mistakes with two goals to give them a 6-4 victory.

Although MIT only won one gate, the team was able to finish fourth, having in seventh place seed. The Beaver's next contest is against Mount Holyoke (18:33.65), behind Mount Holyoke (18:36.71), Cornell (18:24.18), and Vesper Boat Club (18:24.18) and Yale (18:33.71). MIT might have taken second place if it had not been cut off at the Week's Foot (Please turn to page 21).

Men's water polo finishes fourth in tournament

By John Carey

The MIT water polo team finished second in the tournament of Oct. 10 in participation in the Eastern Varsity Water Polo Tournament. The team, MIT's best in many years, competed, but in the end, fell short with a 1-2 record.

The first game was against Holy Cross, and Boston College. MIT looked very strong in the first period and able to tally a 5-1 lead. J.F. Bergere '91, Mike Conroy '91, and Mike Schorr '88 scored MIT's goals. And had lock in as well.

The second overtime period, team captain Duncan McCallum '87 scored two goals, sealing a 9-8 victory for the Beavers.

The second overtime period, team captain Duncan McCallum '87 scored two goals, sealing a 9-8 victory for the Beavers.

The second game was against the cadets from West Point. After the first minute of the game, it was evident that MIT was heading up a 4-0 lead. The Beavers lacked intensity and confidence in their play, which led to many mistakes during goal-scoring opportunities. But Max Ochoa '91 and Mark Edelson '90 were able to score goals for MIT. The final score was 13-2, West Point.

MIT's third game faced Slippery Rock back to demonstrate their plate in the tournament. MIT seemed to have control of everything, but the scoreboard. The first half was dominated by MIT's tough defense and well-organized defense. But due to Slippery Rock fast breaks the Beavers were down 3-0 at halftime.

MIT was able to tie the game at four in the third quarter with goals by Sheroes, Bergere, and Kirk Jackman '91. But MIT once again began to play sloppily. Slippery Rock, playing heads-up polo, took advantage of Barnes mistakes with two goals to give them a 6-4 victory.

Although MIT only won one gate, the team was able to finish fourth, having a seventh place seed. The Beaver's next contest is against Mount Holyoke (18:33.65), behind Mount Holyoke (18:36.71), Cornell (18:24.18) and Yale (18:33.71). MIT might have taken second place if it had not been cut off at the Week's Foot.

The varsity women's cham-

Men's water polo finishes fourth in tournament

By John Carey

The MIT water polo team finished second in the tournament of Oct. 10 in participation in the Eastern Varsity Water Polo Tournament. The team, MIT's best in many years, competed, but in the end, fell short with a 1-2 record.

The first game was against Holy Cross, and Boston College. MIT looked very strong in the first period and able to tally a 5-1 lead. J.F. Bergere '91, Mike Conroy '91, and Mike Schorr '88 scored MIT's goals. And had lock in as well.

The second overtime period, team captain Duncan McCallum '87 scored two goals, sealing a 9-8 victory for the Beavers.

The second overtime period, team captain Duncan McCallum '87 scored two goals, sealing a 9-8 victory for the Beavers.

The second game was against the cadets from West Point. After the first minute of the game, it was evident that MIT was heading up a 4-0 lead. The Beavers lacked intensity and confidence in their play, which led to many mistakes during goal-scoring opportunities. But Max Ochoa '91 and Mark Edelson '90 were able to score goals for MIT. The final score was 13-2, West Point.

MIT's third game faced Slippery Rock back to demonstrate their plate in the tournament. MIT seemed to have control of everything, but the scoreboard. The first half was dominated by MIT's tough defense and well-organized defense. But due to Slippery Rock fast breaks the Beavers were down 3-0 at halftime.

MIT was able to tie the game at four in the third quarter with goals by Sheroes, Bergere, and Kirk Jackman '91. But MIT once again began to play sloppily. Slippery Rock, playing heads-up polo, took advantage of Barnes mistakes with two goals to give them a 6-4 victory.

Although MIT only won one gate, the team was able to finish fourth, having a seventh place seed. The Beaver's next contest is against Mount Holyoke (18:33.65), behind Mount Holyoke (18:36.71), Cornell (18:24.18) and Yale (18:33.71). MIT might have taken second place if it had not been cut off at the Week's Foot.

The varsity women's cham-

Men's water polo finishes fourth in tournament

By John Carey

The MIT water polo team finished second in the tournament of Oct. 10 in participation in the Eastern Varsity Water Polo Tournament. The team, MIT's best in many years, competed, but in the end, fell short with a 1-2 record.

The first game was against Holy Cross, and Boston College. MIT looked very strong in the first period and able to tally a 5-1 lead. J.F. Bergere '91, Mike Conroy '91, and Mike Schorr '88 scored MIT's goals. And had lock in as well.

The second overtime period, team captain Duncan McCallum '87 scored two goals, sealing a 9-8 victory for the Beavers.

The second overtime period, team captain Duncan McCallum '87 scored two goals, sealing a 9-8 victory for the Beavers.

The second game was against the cadets from West Point. After the first minute of the game, it was evident that MIT was heading up a 4-0 lead. The Beavers lacked intensity and confidence in their play, which led to many mistakes during goal-scoring opportunities. But Max Ochoa '91 and Mark Edelson '90 were able to score goals for MIT. The final score was 13-2, West Point.

MIT's third game faced Slippery Rock back to demonstrate their plate in the tournament. MIT seemed to have control of everything, but the scoreboard. The first half was dominated by MIT's tough defense and well-organized defense. But due to Slippery Rock fast breaks the Beavers were down 3-0 at halftime.

MIT was able to tie the game at four in the third quarter with goals by Sheroes, Bergere, and Kirk Jackman '91. But MIT once again began to play sloppily. Slippery Rock, playing heads-up polo, took advantage of Barnes mistakes with two goals to give them a 6-4 victory.

Although MIT only won one gate, the team was able to finish fourth, having a seventh place seed. The Beaver's next contest is against Mount Holyoke (18:33.65), behind Mount Holyoke (18:36.71), Cornell (18:24.18) and Yale (18:33.71). MIT might have taken second place if it had not been cut off at the Week's Foot.

The varsity women's cham-

Men's water polo finishes fourth in tournament

By John Carey

The MIT water polo team finished second in the tournament of Oct. 10 in participation in the Eastern Varsity Water Polo Tournament. The team, MIT's best in many years, competed, but in the end, fell short with a 1-2 record.

The first game was against Holy Cross, and Boston College. MIT looked very strong in the first period and able to tally a 5-1 lead. J.F. Bergere '91, Mike Conroy '91, and Mike Schorr '88 scored MIT's goals. And had lock in as well.

The second overtime period, team captain Duncan McCallum '87 scored two goals, sealing a 9-8 victory for the Beavers.

The second overtime period, team captain Duncan McCallum '87 scored two goals, sealing a 9-8 victory for the Beavers.

The second game was against the cadets from West Point. After the first minute of the game, it was evident that MIT was heading up a 4-0 lead. The Beavers lacked intensity and confidence in their play, which led to many mistakes during goal-scoring opportunities. But Max Ochoa '91 and Mark Edelson '90 were able to score goals for MIT. The final score was 13-2, West Point.

MIT's third game faced Slippery Rock back to demonstrate their plate in the tournament. MIT seemed to have control of everything, but the scoreboard. The first half was dominated by MIT's tough defense and well-organized defense. But due to Slippery Rock fast breaks the Beavers were down 3-0 at halftime.

MIT was able to tie the game at four in the third quarter with goals by Sheroes, Bergere, and Kirk Jackman '91. But MIT once again began to play sloppily. Slippery Rock, playing heads-up polo, took advantage of Barnes mistakes with two goals to give them a 6-4 victory.

Although MIT only won one gate, the team was able to finish fourth, having a seventh place seed. The Beaver's next contest is against Mount Holyoke (18:33.65), behind Mount Holyoke (18:36.71), Cornell (18:24.18) and Yale (18:33.71). MIT might have taken second place if it had not been cut off at the Week's Foot.

The varsity women's cham-