MIT responsive to housing needs

To the Editor:

Have you ever seen the look-of-the-page of a children's magazine? On it, a seemingly watercolor scene of children playing is a child attempting to discern. In its editorial endorsement ['Support Gwynn and Wickham for UAP/UI']. The Tech succeeded in introducing this children's game to the adult world by hiding key issues in a children's game to the adult world. The key idea is that while I appreciate your article, the candidates were evaluated as UA or non-UA, not as individuals.

Is the Interdepartment Asso- ciation a non-representative clique that has lost touch with the student body? Was it ever in touch?

Is there a connection between UA members and MIT administrators who are the leaders of the student newspaper. Therefore, the candidates were evaluated as either an unsupported political slant, or a big essay on social engineering. In that regard, does the student want or need in their paper? My education says no.

Often, sensationalism is a symptom of falling circulation. The Tech has no such problem. As the only major newspaper, The Tech has monopolized on the spread of information on campus. With that monopoly comes an awesome responsibility. I hope that the editors of The Tech develop the strength to shoulder it and the vision to put it to credi- ble use.

Parag Paul '89

UA Nominations Committee

Editorial substance burnt in "flame"

To the Editor:

Have you ever seen the look-of-the-page of a children's magazine? On it, a seemingly watercolor scene of children playing is a child attempting to discern. In its editorial endorsement ['Support Gwynn and Wickham for UAP/UI']. The Tech succeeded in introducing this children's game to the adult world by hiding key issues in a children's game to the adult world. The key idea is that while I appreciate your article, the candidates were evaluated as either an unsupported political slant, or a big essay on social engineering. In that regard, does the student want or need in their paper? My education says no.

Often, sensationalism is a symptom of falling circulation. The Tech has no such problem. As the only major newspaper, The Tech has monopolized on the spread of information on campus. With that monopoly comes an awesome responsibility. I hope that the editors of The Tech develop the strength to shoulder it and the vision to put it to credi- ble use.

Parag Paul '89

UA Nominations Committee

Editors, marked as such and printed in a distinctive format, are the official opinions of The Tech. They are written by the editorial board, publisher, editor in chief, managing editor, news editors and opinion editors.

Columns and editorial columns are written by individuals and represent the opinions of the individual authors. They are not necessarily the views of the editorial board or The Tech. Opinions expressed in columns should not necessarily be attributed to The Tech.

Letters to the Editor are welcome. They may be typed double spaced and addressed to The Tech, PO Box 29, MIT Branch, Cambridge, MA 02139, or faxed to (617) 253-3409.

Letters and columns must bear the authors' signatures, addresses, and telephone numbers should be included. Unsigned letters or cartoons will be printed anonymously without express prior ap- proval. The Tech reserves the right to edit or reject any letter. Shorter letters will be given higher priority. We regret we cannot publish all of the Letters we receive.

To the Editor:

`support Gwynn and Wickham for UAP/UI`.