LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Question 1 threatens Cambridge grad housing

The supply of off-campus housing is threatened by the Council on Nov. 7, referendum Question 1. This referendum, which is also an important issue for Cambridge residents, will be the subject of public meetings and discussion in the coming weeks.

Columnist ignores desires of Third World citizenry

I suppose I'm just a disgruntled leftist intellectual. Here's why: I found Pankaj Vaish's column on newly emerging world economies in tomorrow's Tech. Vaish's column, which he describes as "an exposé of the emerging world economies," is an attempt to criticize the current economic system. However, I found it to be patronizing and inaccurate.

Free markets do not insulate political freedom

We write to take issue with Pankaj Vaish's recent column on the free markets and their impact on the Third World. Vaish's column, which he describes as "an exposé of the emerging world economies," is an attempt to criticize the current economic system. However, I found it to be patronizing and inaccurate.

Letters to the Editor, marked as such and printed in a distinctive format, are the official opinion of the Tech. They are written by the editorial board, which consists of the chairman, editor, chief, managing editor, executive editor, news editor, and opinion editor.

Letters to the Editor are welcome. They should be typed double spaced and submitted to the Tech, 02139, by mail, by handwritten letter, or by typing the exact same letter in a word processor. Letters must be fewer than 150 words in length and may be edited for space and clarity.

Letters to the Editor should be signed. Unidentified letters will not be accepted. No letter or name will be printed anonymously without express prior approval from the Tech. The Tech reserves the right to edit or delete letters. Shorter letters will be given priority. We regret that we cannot publish all of the letters we receive.
