The Tech Performing Arts Series invites the MIT community to subscribe to the exciting new Sinfonova season at a 75% discount.

The season kicks off October 27 with Steven Lubin joining the orchestra for a performance of Beethoven’s Piano Concerto No. 3. Lubin’s recent recordings of the complete Beethoven piano concertos with the Academy of Ancient Music, conducted by Christopher Hogwood are spectacular. The Penguin CD guide has rated his recordings first choice above several famous name pianists.

Subscribers are invited to meet the pianist and conductor at a post-concert reception (location to be announced).

January’s program is highlighted by a performance of the Haydn Cello Concerto by Soviet cellist Souren Bagradouni, who made a big impact during the Soviet-US Exchange Festival held in Boston last year. His tone is fabulous, his interpretation subtle. In April another Soviet virtuoso — Vladimir Krasien — will be in town to play works by Shostakovich and Schnittke.

Sinfonova won two awards last season; we hope you’ll subscribe for a new season which will be at least equally enthralling.

The MIT subscription price is only $12 for a subscription normally priced at $48. For orders of 10 subscriptions or more on one form, the price is $11 per subscription — ideal for living groups.

Please send your subscription form and check made payable to “Sinfonova” for $12 per subscription. ($11 each for 10 or more subscriptions) to Jonathan Richmond at MIT Room 1-090, indicating your MIT affiliation (undergraduate student, graduate student, faculty or staff).

Subscription forms are available at The Tech and Technology Community Association and the first floor information desk in the Student Center, in the Music Library, and from the Wiesner Building, Room E15-205.
