Bush pledges no taxes

President George Bush promised no new taxes and shot down suggestions for changing Social Security benefits on Monday. His spokesmen said, however, that "there's room to talk" about a deficit-cutting plan that includes both higher taxes and a Social Security benefits freeze. Martin Fitzwater said House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Dan Rostenkowski (D-Ill.) had said his plan does not "constitute a change." The FAA also plans to upgrade the training of its inspectors following word that an inspector in Fargo, ND, allowed a Northwest Airlines crew to fly despite a tip that they had been drinking prior to a flight.

North reprimanded in Poindexter trial

A federal judge scolded Oliver L. North several times during his testimony at John M. Poindexter's Monday trial. The judge rebuked Christine Poindexter for her defense attorney Charles C. Newbold's repeated objections. The judge said Newbold had "belligerently" buttressed the prosecutor's arguments and was "going out of his way to undermine any hope of a fair and impartial trial." The judge scolded Newbold for describing the CIA as a "veritable black hole" and for his "unfair and inflammatory" line of questioning.

Female Haitian leader likely

Prosper Avril, who resigned over the weekend and fled to Ontario, is likely to serve as Haiti's new president. She would replace military ruler Lieutenant General Prosper Avril, who resigned over the weekend and fled to Ontario. The new president would form a new government and would take the lead so other Western nations will follow. But White House spokesman Marlin L. Fitzwater said Washington, DC, would deal with Haiti as an independent state if it can take charge of its own destiny.
