Jim's Journal

Today Tony was dancing and listening to a new tape he bought. He turned it down and left it.

Then something knocked down the speaker. He turned it down again. I must have ended up turning it down every time.

Today Tony was playing his new tape when it started to slow down. It slowed down, then Tony put a new tape in the player and it worked.

Today Tony was playing his new tape when it started to slow down.