By Sara Ontiveros

SPORTS

Women Fencers Win New England Championships

Revenge was sweet for the women’s fencing team at the New England Championships last weekend. The championships are held for varsity and club teams each year at Harvard. Despite their losses two weeks ago to Harvard, the Lady Blades were able to claim victory this time around.

By Mike Panascker

Hockey Advances to Semis with 13-2 Win

The MIT men’s hockey team advanced to the semifinals of the New England College Hockey Association Division I North Tournament by routing a thoroughly outmatched Franklin Pierce squad, 13-2. The Beavers await the winner of the semifinal game, First, two out of three regular-season matchups, including their Ben Purucker Tournament game, First, will meet MIT beginning at 6 p.m. on Sunday at the Johnson Athletic Center.

By Yuki Lee

Pistol Team Members Go to Nationals

The ninth and final round was a showdown between MIT and Harvard. Despite Harvard’s recent success in club fencing, MIT emerged victorious.

By Sara Ontiveros

Men’s Volleyball vs. EIVA Tournament, 7:30 p.m., Rockwell Cage and duPont Gymnasium. February 28:

Men’s Volleyball vs. EIVA Tournament, 9 p.m., Rockwell Cage.

University of New York at Brockport, which finished third. The fourth place finish for the Engineers still represents the best finish ever by an MIT team at this event. The State University of New York at Cortland won the meet with a score of 197.0, while Ithaca College took second with 177.5.

By Catherine Rocchi

Women Gymnasts Make a Record

The fourth place finish for the Engineers still represents the best finish ever by an MIT team at this event. The State University of New York at Cortland won the meet with a score of 197.0, while Ithaca College took second with 177.5.

The MIT women’s gymnastics team chalked up its best performance ever last weekend at the Eastern College Athletic Championships, held at Ursinus College in Pennsylvania. The Engineers set a new team score record, earning 161.40 overall — a score that earned them fourth place, a mere 0.95 points behind the State University of New York at Brockport, which finished third.

The fourth place finish for the Engineers still represents the best finish ever by an MIT team at this event. The State University of New York at Cortland won the meet with a score of 197.0, while Ithaca College took second with 177.5. SUNY Brockport squared into third with a 161.45 overall, while Ursinus and Rhode Island College were fifth and sixth with scores of 156.05 and 148.2.

The MIT women’s gymnastics team chalked up its best performance ever last weekend at the Eastern College Athletic Championships, held at Ursinus College in Pennsylvania. The Engineers set a new team score record, earning 161.40 overall — a score that earned them fourth place, a mere 0.95 points behind the State University of New York at Brockport, which finished third.

The fourth place finish for the Engineers still represents the best finish ever by an MIT team at this event. The State University of New York at Cortland won the meet with a score of 197.0, while Ithaca College took second with 177.5. SUNY Brockport squared into third with a 161.45 overall, while Ursinus and Rhode Island College were fifth and sixth with scores of 156.05 and 148.2.

The MIT women’s gymnastics team chalked up its best performance ever last weekend at the Eastern College Athletic Championships, held at Ursinus College in Pennsylvania. The Engineers set a new team score record, earning 161.40 overall — a score that earned them fourth place, a mere 0.95 points behind the State University of New York at Brockport, which finished third. The fourth place finish for the Engineers still represents the best finish ever by an MIT team at this event. The State University of New York at Cortland won the meet with a score of 197.0, while Ithaca College took second with 177.5. SUNY Brockport squared into third with a 161.45 overall, while Ursinus and Rhode Island College were fifth and sixth with scores of 156.05 and 148.2.

The MIT women’s gymnastics team chalked up its best performance ever last weekend at the Eastern College Athletic Championships, held at Ursinus College in Pennsylvania. The Engineers set a new team score record, earning 161.40 overall — a score that earned them fourth place, a mere 0.95 points behind the State University of New York at Brockport, which finished third. The fourth place finish for the Engineers still represents the best finish ever by an MIT team at this event. The State University of New York at Cortland won the meet with a score of 197.0, while Ithaca College took second with 177.5. SUNY Brockport squared into third with a 161.45 overall, while Ursinus and Rhode Island College were fifth and sixth with scores of 156.05 and 148.2. The MIT women’s gymnastics team chalked up its best performance ever last weekend at the Eastern College Athletic Championships, held at Ursinus College in Pennsylvania. The Engineers set a new team score record, earning 161.40 overall — a score that earned them fourth place, a mere 0.95 points behind the State University of New York at Brockport, which finished third. The fourth place finish for the Engineers still represents the best finish ever by an MIT team at this event. The State University of New York at Cortland won the meet with a score of 197.0, while Ithaca College took second with 177.5. SUNY Brockport squared into third with a 161.45 overall, while Ursinus and Rhode Island College were fifth and sixth with scores of 156.05 and 148.2. The MIT women’s gymnastics team chalked up its best performance ever last weekend at the Eastern College Athletic Championships, held at Ursinus College in Pennsylvania. The Engineers set a new team score record, earning 161.40 overall — a score that earned them fourth place, a mere 0.95 points behind the State University of New York at Brockport, which finished third. The fourth place finish for the Engineers still represents the best finish ever by an MIT team at this event. The State University of New York at Cortland won the meet with a score of 197.0, while Ithaca College took second with 177.5. SUNY Brockport squared into third with a 161.45 overall, while Ursinus and Rhode Island College were fifth and sixth with scores of 156.05 and 148.2. The MIT women’s gymnastics team chalked up its best performance ever last weekend at the Eastern College Athletic Championships, held at Ursinus College in Pennsylvania. The Engineers set a new team score record, earning 161.40 overall — a score that earned them fourth place, a mere 0.95 points behind the State University of New York at Brockport, which finished third. The fourth place finish for the Engineers still represents the best finish ever by an MIT team at this event. The State University of New York at Cortland won the meet with a score of 197.0, while Ithaca College took second with 177.5. SUNY Brockport squared into third with a 161.45 overall, while Ursinus and Rhode Island College were fifth and sixth with scores of 156.05 and 148.2.