CLASS OF 1995

PRESIDENT

Sandra Joung

The office of Class President challenges its incumbent to represent the class interests, bridge the gap between students and the administration, and promote class integrity and unity. My extensive leadership experience, which includes serving as Class President and National Honors Society President at a high school, and desire to assume the responsibilities of the office make me an excellent candidate for this position. This year, I have become familiar with the system and hope to improve it. I enjoy listening to people's opinions and would like to see the council respond to the concerns and needs voiced by the class. I feel I possess the qualifications needed to meet the demanding challenges of this office and am ready to commit myself to serving the Class of 1995.

VICE PRESIDENT

Mark Herschberg

Hello class of 1995. My name is Mark Herschberg and I would like to be your vice-president. I am willing to devote a lot of time to fulfill the duties of this office and to better communication between our class and the officers. To be dull, my door would always be open and I will be willing to talk to the members of our class. Thank you.

SECRETARY

Anuja Patel

As an outgoing secretary I see my duty to class as being responsible for attending all UA meetings and keeping detailed records of the minutes. I will also make available a newsletter containing the most pertinent information. In this manner, provide to you in increasing participation in various institute activities. What I have to offer is the time and enthusiasm that this office demands. Although my activities have been within my living group, I am looking forward to getting involved in the Institute in a larger scale and therefore, ask for your support in these elections. Thank you.

Treasurer

Shradhha Dalal

Since I am not in any other activities at MIT, if elected I would be able to allocate all my time to this position. I would propose a budget such that our funds are evenly distributed and well-invested for more activities. I will search for the best deals on office supplies and search for new ways to view the council. I am committed in trying to keep touch with the class as personal level to let you know of what is going on in Undergraduate council. I will commit myself to keeping in touch with the class and be available for more questions. I am the most reasonably priced class representative. I am the most interested in the students and their concerns. I am involved in the Undergraduate council. I have been involved in the council for the past year and a half and I feel it is the time to use my experience to benefit the council.

PUBLICITY CHAIR

Frances S. Hsieh

Many people feel that Class Council is a joke. It has a reputation of inactivity. This year, I have tried to change that image and I want to continue to do so. If you elect me to be Publicity Chair, my goal will be to keep you informed. I will be in touch with Council and will get our class more involved in Class of '96 activities. I am a Publicity Chair and want to uphold the Class of '95. Working with the Secretary, one of the most important members of our activities, will enable me to get more participation, generate more class spirit, and more importantly, have fun.

Experience wise, I am the current Publicity Chair of Class of 95 and a member of the UA Publicity Committee. I designed flyers, made announcements, and helped to keep the Institute copy and section editor of the yearbook. I know how to manage a student government--having attended the student representative to the Board of Education, I have been familiar with the system and hope to improve it. I enjoy listening to people's opinions and would like to see the council respond to the concerns and needs voiced by the class. I feel I possess the qualifications needed to meet the demanding challenges of this office and am ready to commit myself to serving the Class of 1995.

CLASS OF 1996

Colin Page

There are numerous opportunities to own your turn at MIT. There is only one problem. You can't participate if you don't know what is happening. If elected, I will make sure this important information reaches you. I also hope to start a newsletter to keep you up to date on the happenings of Class of '96 and what's going on at MIT. As a Male/Female team, both with past Student Organization, we feel that having a student council is more than just a way to pass time. It is a way to represent the student body and their concerns. It is a way to promote class integrity and unity. My extensive leadership experience, which includes serving as Class President and National Honors Society President at a high school, and desire to assume the responsibilities of the office make me an excellent candidate for this position. This year, I have become familiar with the system and hope to improve it. I enjoy listening to people's opinions and would like to see the council respond to the concerns and needs voiced by the class. I feel I possess the qualifications needed to meet the demanding challenges of this office and am ready to commit myself to serving the Class of 1995.

SECRETARY

Jason Hsiung

As your class secretary, I am your go-to person for anything class related. If you have any issues, I am here to listen to and talk to the members of our class. Thank you.

Treasurer

Sarbin Kwon

Money is how to make it and how to spend it - the primary passions of the typical 18-20 year-old's life. Through my past experiences as treasurer of various high school activities, I feel I will be able to effectively fulfill the responsibilities of this office. By helping fund-raising events (e.g. class shirt and homecoming) will bring the class a sense of unity and pride. I will also be responsible for keeping class accounts and showing you where your money goes. By holding monthly meetings, any financial or other decisions that need to be made will be made known to all members of this class. Additionally, I will send out newsletters, post announcements, and work closely with the public relations chair on some events as well. My plan is simple: If I am elected, you will know who is going on.

PUBLICITY CHAIR

Heen & Jansen

Do you want to get to know your class better? Do you want to have a negative social experience so that many of your classmates are forced to hang out with you? Heen & Jansen will make your every social event an occasion to hang out with us. We are the life of the party, the person that everyone loves to have around, and the best people to have a good time with. Get to know Ashley & Jansen, the party people of your dreams.

CLASS OF 1997

PRESIDENT

John Simmons

The office of Class President is a difficult and time-consuming position and I believe that I can handle the responsibilities of the position well. My extensive leadership experience includes being an officer of the Student Council and National Honor Society. I spent two years in a position of leadership and responsibility with the Undergraduate Council, which involved the planning of several events, including a 1000 person gathering.

VICE PRESIDENT

Jenny Lee

I believe that the class council must create more events that will bring the class of '97 together to meet each other. As president, I would be open to the ideas of the student body as the class council makes decisions on issues and events involving the Class of 1995. As representative of our class, I will also make sure that the beliefs and concerns of the class are made known to the UA Council and the rest of the MIT community.

SECRETARY

Sara Yoo
