Hearing Possible In Ballot Theft

By Robert M. LePage

Disciplinatory hearings for student implicated in the March 11 theft of an Undergraduate Association ballot box have been delayed for a week so that the case may be resolved before new student elections.

The authorities are not releasing the name or student number of the defendant.

Some students have expressed concern that the case may be resolved before new student elections.

The defendant is a sophomore who was enrolled in a laboratory course that covered budgeting and accounting. He had been uncooperative in providing information about the theft.

The defendant's parents have been notified of the situation.

The case is expected to be resolved by the end of the semester.
