Two Stabbed at DKE; Two Suspects Still at Large

By Eva Moy

The latest in a series of violent crimes occurred just before midnight on Friday, when two MIT students were stabbed at a Delta Kappa Epsilon party. John P. Olynok '94 received knife wounds to the back and upper lip, and Sean Chappe '94 received cuts on his right arm and left cheek, according to a Cambridge Police report. Both victims are members of DKE.

MIT Campus Police and Cambridge Police are investigating eight male suspects in connection with the case. The police believe that the suspects are not affiliated with MIT.

Olynok was treated at Massachusetts General Hospital and released Sunday. Chappe was treated at the MIT Medical Center and released Tuesday.

Cambridge Police report. Both victims were stabbed at a Delta Kappa Epsilon party, according to witnesses. But a check with BU Police revealed that this was not true, Glavin said.

An undisclosed number of the suspects are juveniles, according to Cambridge Police Commander Anthony Richard Sevi, who would not reveal their ages. Chappe said some of them looked to be in their early 20s.

The police have the license plate number of one of the vehicles the suspects used to escape, Glavin said. "Hopefully [they can] apprehend them and charge them soon," he added.

The detective divisions of the Cambridge and Campus Police are working together to identify the suspects.

Six Forced to Leave MacGregor

By Brian Rosenberg

Six residents of F Entry in MacGregor House will be forced to move out before finals begin to prevent the recurrence of a variety of "inappropriate behaviors" that began in the spring, Dean for Residence and Campus Activities James R. Tewhey announced last week.

Those students claim not to have been involved in the incidents that are the basis for the forced departure.

Council, who is serving as an interim residence dean in the entry, responded to Tewhey's claims by saying he "have talked to anyone" about "anything about harassing phone calls. "I believe [they] have been shown during one incident, but not by anyone in F41.

Neither Bishop-Hofer nor Dean for Undergraduate Education and Student Affairs Arthur C. Smith would comment further for the record on the situation, including the identities of the students involved. Tewhey cited a "long-standing policy in this office not to discuss decisions regarding individual students."

The eight suspects were asked by fraternity members to leave the party after pulling an internal house fire alarm. Then the fighting began, according to a Campus Police bulletin.

According to statements by victims, six of the men entered the fraternity, but two stayed behind, said Chief of Campus Police Anne P. Glavin. The stabbings occurred at about 11:38 p.m., when the six men tried to re-enter the fraternity.

Glavin added that the police believe only one person was responsible for the stabbing.

The men had claimed to be brothers. University authorities are in order to gain entrance to the party, according to witnesses. But a check with BU Police revealed that this was not true, Glavin said.

An undisclosed number of the eight suspects are juveniles, according to Cambridge Police Commander Anthony Richard Sevi, who would not reveal their ages. Chappe said some of them looked to be in their early 20s.

The police have the license plate number of one of the vehicles the suspects used to escape, Glavin said. An undisclosed number of the suspects are juveniles, according to Cambridge Police Commander Anthony Richard Sevi, who would not reveal their ages. Chappe said some of them looked to be in their early 20s.

The police have the license plate number of one of the vehicles the suspects used to escape, Glavin said. An undisclosed number of the suspects are juveniles, according to Cambridge Police Commander Anthony Richard Sevi, who would not reveal their ages. Chappe said some of them looked to be in their early 20s.

The police have the license plate number of one of the vehicles the suspects used to escape, Glavin said. An undisclosed number of the suspects are juveniles, according to Cambridge Police Commander Anthony Richard Sevi, who would not reveal their ages. Chappe said some of them looked to be in their early 20s.

The police have the license plate number of one of the vehicles the suspects used to escape, Glavin said. An undisclosed number of the suspects are juveniles, according to Cambridge Police Commander Anthony Richard Sevi, who would not reveal their ages. Chappe said some of them looked to be in their early 20s.

The police have the license plate number of one of the vehicles the suspects used to escape, Glavin said. An undisclosed number of the suspects are juveniles, according to Cambridge Police Commander Anthony Richard Sevi, who would not reveal their ages. Chappe said some of them looked to be in their early 20s.

The police have the license plate number of one of the vehicles the suspects used to escape, Glavin said. An undisclosed number of the suspects are juveniles, according to Cambridge Police Commander Anthony Richard Sevi, who would not reveal their ages. Chappe said some of them looked to be in their early 20s.

The police have the license plate number of one of the vehicles the suspects used to escape, Glavin said. An undisclosed number of the suspects are juveniles, according to Cambridge Police Commander Anthony Richard Sevi, who would not reveal their ages. Chappe said some of them looked to be in their early 20s.

The police have the license plate number of one of the vehicles the suspects used to escape, Glavin said. An undisclosed number of the suspects are juveniles, according to Cambridge Police Commander Anthony Richard Sevi, who would not reveal their ages. Chappe said some of them looked to be in their early 20s.