LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Safety Money Could Be Better Spent

The recent editorial ["It's Time to Get Serious About Safety," Nov. 20] addresses a security issue of vital importance to all MIT students and faculty. What the article does not take into account, however, is that recent crimes have not occurred within the MIT buildings themselves. Perhaps the large expenditures proposed for a back-up system would be better utilized in providing for better lighting of dim campus areas, expansion of the Safe Ride system, or installation of readily accessible campus emergency phones. While the article proposed a viable solution, it is for a problem we do not yet have. MIT should concentrate upon dealing with present problems first, then perhaps turn its attention to future security concerns after we have mitigated, if not resolved, our current crime woes.

Also, we all owe the campus police our hearty thanks and gratitude for their efficient, rapid handling of the theft threat crisis on Nov. 19. The buildings were evacuated quickly and efficiently, and half routes were scaled off as well. Though the threat turned out to be a false one, the campus police proved their ability to mobilize in a crisis situation which critics of our campus police should note, despite the fact that Dunkin' Donuts was not in the prospective mass zone.

Scott T. Miller '96

Input Wanted to Start Baker Foundation's Institute Sign Project

We were very glad to see Michael K. Chung's column ["A Wish List Of Ideas for Changes On Campus," Nov. 6]. Surely every student who has tried to get around campus has been frustrated by MIT's numbering system. Imagine that you are a freshman visiting MIT for the first time. You're trying to find 817 using the map on the back of your MIT ID. You don't realize that your destination is not on the map, since the map is too small to include any of the East Campus buildings. You see "E" and "20" up near the map but your destination is not on the map, since the map is too small to include any of the East Campus buildings.

Letters, Page 5

OPINION POLICY

Editorials, printed in a distinctive format, are the official opinion of The Tech. They are written by the editorial board, consisting of the chairman, editor in chief, managing editor, executive editors, news editors and opinion editors.

Columns and editorial cartoons are written by individuals and represent the opinions of the author, not necessarily that of the newspaper.

Letters to the editor are welcome. They must be typed, double-spaced and addressed to The Tech, PO Box 29, MIT Branch, Cambridge, Mass. 02139, or by facsimile to (617) 258-4833. Electronic submissions in plain text format may be emailed to letters@tech.mit.edu. All submissions are due by 4 p.m. two days before the issue date.

Letters and cartoons must bear the author's signature, address, and phone number. Unsigned letters will not be accepted. No letter or cartoon will be printed anonymously without the express prior approval of The Tech. The Tech reserves the right to edit or condense letters. Shorter letters will be given higher priority. We regret we cannot publish all of the letters we receive.

Page 5 The Tech

November 24, 1992

OPINION

THIS MODERN WORLD

IT'S ANOTHER DAY ON THE SET OF THIS MODERN WORLD...

Buffy—You're a better walker than I am.

LOOK AT THE SCRIPT! YOU DON'T COME IN UNTIL I FINISH SAYING "CALL A MOVING VAN FOR THE WANKERS!!" 40 IT?

SORRY, SHER! I GUESS I'M DISTRACTED...

HE MAY BE SOMEWHAT SOCIALLy LIBERAL, ESPECIALLY COMPARED TO THE FANNING runners we've had... BUT REMEMBER—HE WON BY PANDERING TO REAGAN DEMOCRATS... HE SUPPORTS MARTA, WHICH ANY CHILD CAN SEE WILL INCREASE CORPORATE PROFITS ONLY AT THE EXPENSE OF AMERICAN JOBS, AND HIS PROPOSED MILITARY BUDGET IS ONLY MARGINAIIY SMALLER THAN BUSH'S!

WHAT ARE WE GOING TO DO WITHOUT BUFFY? I MEAN, HE'S PRACTICALLY BEEN WEARING OUR CARTEER FOR US!

IT'S TIME TO GET SERIOUS ABOUT SAFETY...

GOOK, DARL—YOU'RE RIGHT! THANKS, DARL, FEEL MUCH BETTER!

QUIET, EVERYBODY! PLACES, PLEASE!

ERRATUM

Robert O. Presaper was incorrectly identified in Friday's editorial. Presaper served as director of education at the Center for Advanced Visual Studies from 1974 to 1983.

The winner of the distance competition in the Physics I (8.01) "Shoot the Hoop Contest" was incorrectly reported in Friday's issue. The winner was Hsiang C. Chu '96.

ERRATUM

The recent editorial ["It's Time to Get Serious About Safety," Nov. 20] addresses a security issue of vital importance to all MIT students and faculty. What the article does not take into account, however, is that recent crimes have not occurred within the MIT buildings themselves. Perhaps the large expenditures proposed for a back-up system would be better utilized in providing for better lighting of dim campus areas, expansion of the Safe Ride system, or installation of readily accessible campus emergency phones. While the article proposed a viable solution, it is for a problem we do not yet have. MIT should concentrate upon dealing with present problems first, then perhaps turn its attention to future security concerns after we have mitigated, if not resolved, our current crime woes.

Also, we all owe the campus police our hearty thanks and gratitude for their efficient, rapid handling of the theft threat crisis on Nov. 19. The buildings were evacuated quickly and efficiently, and half routes were scaled off as well. Though the threat turned out to be a false one, the campus police proved their ability to mobilize in a crisis situation which critics of our campus police should note, despite the fact that Dunkin' Donuts was not in the prospective mass zone.

Scott T. Miller '96

Input Wanted to Start Baker Foundation's Institute Sign Project

We were very glad to see Michael K. Chung's column ["A Wish List Of Ideas for Changes On Campus," Nov. 6]. Surely every student who has tried to get around campus has been frustrated by MIT's numbering system. Imagine that you are a freshman visiting MIT for the first time. You're trying to find 817 using the map on the back of your MIT ID. You don't realize that your destination is not on the map, since the map is too small to include any of the East Campus buildings. You see "E" and "20" up near the map but your destination is not on the map, since the map is too small to include any of the East Campus buildings.

Letters, Page 5

OPINION POLICY

Editorials, printed in a distinctive format, are the official opinion of The Tech. They are written by the editorial board, consisting of the chairman, editor in chief, managing editor, executive editors, news editors and opinion editors.

Columns and editorial cartoons are written by individuals and represent the opinions of the author, not necessarily that of the newspaper.

Letters to the editor are welcome. They must be typed, double-spaced and addressed to The Tech, PO Box 29, MIT Branch, Cambridge, Mass. 02139, or by facsimile to (617) 258-4833. Electronic submissions in plain text format may be emailed to letters@tech.mit.edu. All submissions are due by 4 p.m. two days before the issue date.

Letters and cartoons must bear the author's signature, address, and phone number. Unsigned letters will not be accepted. No letter or cartoon will be printed anonymously without the express prior approval of The Tech. The Tech reserves the right to edit or condense letters. Shorter letters will be given higher priority. We regret we cannot publish all of the letters we receive.