Communal riots swept across India Monday, killing more than 200 people in at least 100 cities and towns, in what is being described as the worst communal violence in independent India. The violence between Hindus and Muslims was triggered by rumors that a mosque in Ayodhya was going to be demolished for a Hindu temple.

President-elect Clinton, fresh from a month of skull sessions with economic comrades, warned Monday that short-term improvements in the business cycle should not mask “long-term trends in education and training.”

Clinton promised—that his government would rebuild the mosque and Islamic center destroyed during last month’s election violence. The government Monday banned fanatic religious groups, and Indian army patrols would roam the streets and protect mosque leaders for the destruction of the Babri mosque in Ayodhya.

The escalation of violence, which has rocked India’s major political parties in disarray. Parliament was forced to adjourn Monday when bedlam broke out in the chamber with creatingシン for Rao’s resignation and calls for banning the main opposition party, the Bharatiya Janata Party, the prime organizer of the march on the mosque.

U.S. Envoy Tells Somalia’s Warlords Not to Interfere

By Keith B. Richburg

A U.S. envoy warned Somalia’s warlords Monday night “to keep their guns away from Mogadishu’s port and international airport and when their troops conduct combat operations.”

The envoy, who arrived in Mogadishu Wednesday to restore order in the port city and to deal with “problems that have been coming onto us from the, stubborn sluggishness that helped him to victory last month. A virtual siege, the Red Cross official said a Red Cross official. “If troops are going to enter into negotiations with the United States force, they will not be able to do so.”

Sunny, Dry, and Cold

By Michael Morgan

It seems as if we never get the eight ingredients for a snow event in place... or at least, they are not in the right place at the same time. Consider last week’s events: lots of moisture, but no cold air. Well, that was last week. This week, we will see some of the ingredients in place, although scarcer than usual and scattered over a large area. Clouds and precipitation will likely arrive late Thursday or early Friday.

Today: Mostly sunny and continued cold. High 27-31°F (-3 to -2°C).

Thursday: Clear and cold. Low 17-19°F (-9 to -7°C).

Friday: Mostly sunny and cold. High 23-26°F (-5 to -3°C).

Saturday: Cloudy and cold. High 22-25°F (-6 to -3°C).

Sunday: Cloudy and cold. High 21-24°F (-6 to -4°C).

Risks and Concerns

- Wind Chill
  - Cold temperatures combined with wind will make it feel much colder. Be sure to dress warmly and allow extra time for travel.
- Bitter Cold
  - See above.
- Snow
  - Snow is expected in the higher elevations, particularly in the mountains and on exposed slopes.

Essential Precautions

- Stay Warm
  - Wear multiple layers of clothing, including a windproof outer layer.
  - Wear a hat, gloves, and a face mask.
  - Stay inside if possible.

- Avoid Exposure
  - Limit outdoor activities, especially if you are elderly or have heart or lung problems.

- Check on Neighbors
  - Check on family and friends, especially those who are elderly or have health problems.

- Use Caution
  - Use caution when driving, especially on icy or snow-covered roads.
  - Use caution when walking, especially on icy or snow-covered sidewalks and steps.
