Attention Harvard/MIT Graduates, classes 1984-1994. The U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania determined on 9/2/92 that the scholarship practices of Harvard, MIT, and the seven other Ivy League schools violated the U.S. antitrust laws. If you were admitted to more than one college within that group, and your high school record was excellent relative to other members of your entering class, the admissions office of your college may have engaged in collusion with other colleges to which you were admitted to eliminate or reduce your scholarship aid. You may be entitled to damages for any college aid you did not receive. For more information call Dr. Samuel B. Welles, Attorney at Law, at 617-669-8887.
