Letters To The Editor

Armenian Genocide

Armenian leaders and intellectuals were killed first. Townspeople were gathered together, and the men where massacred while women, children, and the elderly were sent on death marches into the deserts. Town names were changed and all references to Armenians were attempted to be deleted from the minds of the Turkish youth and the Armenians who survived. Hitler was inspired by the Turkish and massacred millions of Jews. Germany and people all over the world acknowledge the Armenian Genocide while the Turkish Government will not admit to the horror of the Armenian people in 1915. Speaking out today is very important, and the world must never forget. We must recognize that genocide can happen, even today. If the world had recognized the Armenian massacre of 1915, such events as the Jewish Holocaust and the events in Bosnia may have been prevented.

I joined the ATF for the excitement.

We were gonna scare the guilt out of you.

I don't think it worked.
