Opinion Policy

Editorials, printed in a distinctive format, are the official opinion of The Tech. They are written by the editorial board, which consists of the chairmain, chief editor, managing editor, executive editor, news editor, and opinion editor. Dissents, marked as such and printed in a distinctive format, are the opinion of the dissenting member of The Tech board choosing to publish their disagreements with the editorial. Columns and editorial cartoons are written by individuals and represent the opinion of the author, not necessarily that of the newspaper.

Letters to the editor are welcome. They must be typed, double-space (one inch between lines) and不得短于500 words. No signatures, anonymous letters, groups or organizations. All letters are subject to editing, and subscription. Letters must be submitted to the post office of The Tech at least one week prior to publication.

Letters to the editor should be written in clear, legible handwriting. The Tech reserves the right to edit for clarity and length. All letters are subject to editing, and subscription. All letters should be submitted to the post office of The Tech at least one week prior to publication.
