Kudos to Javial Nazario '95 who was named first team Division III

All-American in water polo.

Flat Top Johnny's

Super reliable Ron Borges brags home the bacon this week for modestly stating that the Bungles will be the Steelers on Dec. 22 for their showdown with the Pattnies. Sir Vix correctly notes that it is actually the Pattnies who travel to Pittsburgh this week, while Cicely is a 22 point dog at the Niners.

You Heard It Here First

Ken Haffield, former Clemson coach, will go to South Carolina next season to replace Sparky Woods.

Where Are They Now

Trivia Question of the Week

Where were the now-defunct Bluebonnet Bowl, Cherry Bowl, and Bluebonnet Bowl held? Send answers, comments, and information regarding the whereabouts of Salman Rushdie (aka Sal Bias) to sports@tech-mil.edu. (Remember, because it is the end of the term, the Registrar's official deadline for true answers is Monday at noon, but, your humble scribes will accept answers up until Wednesday at 9 a.m.)

Answer to last week's question: Chicago Bulls and Portland Trail Blazers. Kudos to Jerome Kholbey and John Springerstein '91 who got it right. They both win a free screening of the "Jim Tewhey Saga" made for TV movie, starring Bob Saget and Molly Ringwald, when it comes out.

MIT TWIB Notes

Congrats to the men's basketball team, which registered its first win of the season last Saturday with a victory over Worchester Polytechnic Institute. The victory followed a road loss to Bentley and two narrow defeats two weeks ago in the Trinity University Invitational Tournament in San Antonio, Tex. The Beavers, led by Randy "Trigger" Hyun '95, have "em up again on Tuesday for a 7:30 p.m. tip-off in the Eastern Nazarine Biscuits In The Cage.

Come out to support the junior varety team tonight at 7:30 in The Cage.
