site, even though you bring in projects with revenue covering half your co-workers' time. And as long as you do your job are eliminated in order to avoid having to pay for unproductive co-workers (e.g., Prop 42 and the elimination of an assistant coach for MCLA, who had personnel costs for some dough for other sports), co-workers who make money for the firm with revenue to cover their expenses. You, the worker, would find this union-busting contract equally major issue in all of college athletics. It's always been a problem to solve this problem is wrong.

Using the above-as mentioned as a specific example to the NCAA that it split itself up into separate governing bodies: one for college football, one for college basketball, and one for each of the remainder of the seasons. This way the governing body can spend its time addressing the appropriate needs of its members.

The Big East Conference as we know it today is in crisis. Formed as a basketball-only conference in order to cash in on the many millions in Operating bud-

Toni Mondone's hueso de la semana:

To Kansas City running back
Kimble Anders for trying to catch a Joe Montana pass with his shoulder pads at the end of the first half of the Chiefs-Bills game. The pass would have gone for a touchdown, leaving KC down by only 7 going into the locker room, with the Chiefs building the lead to start the third quarter. Instead, Henry Jones snatched up the free ball for an interception about as quickly as your humble scribes will be downing the free beers at The Tech banquet tomorrow night, securing the victory for the Beautiful Losers.

Trivia Question of the Week:

In what Superbowl did the "V Is going to Disney World" commercial first appear in and who said it?

Answers to last week's question:

Houston (Bluebonnet), Pontiac, Mich., (Cherry), and Orlando (Tango-Tigre). Kudos to Neil Rappaport G who got it right. He wins a free set of Lorena Bobbitt matted steak knives. We understand they are great for slicing meat, sausage, and even bananas.

Boys 28, Bills 20: An easy call when you look at the teams invited to the Big Dance. Therefore, the national championship is decided on the court, not "on the throne" at the start of the season (therefore had to spend all season moving up the polls or ranked that highly.

In college basketball, the AP poll means squat because the tournament selection committee uses the RPI (power index) in order to both select and seed the teams for the Big Dance. No team has ever come back from losing the first two minutes of the Big Dance. Therefore, one sports-

The best thing about CBS losing the AFC contract is that the games will be on Fox, and Fox is the only one of the network's that even wants to be on TV. The worst thing about Fox getting the NFL: the acquisition of Ten BROADCAST. That compere ought to go back to his spokemodel days for Han
