One by one, party chiefs, government ministers and potential candidates for the presidency parade in and out of the presidential mansion, stoic and mute.

For election-fraud victims, the trial of a high-profile case, which ended in acquittal last month of the chief suspect in the massacre of about 30 Palestinians by a Jewish settler in the West Bank, is the most painful of many traditional party stalwarts who have been waging a campaign to boost him and to block Zedillo.

At 5:45 a.m. Sunday, the Birmingham weather office issued its first tornado warning of an actual tornado, pinpointing a 10-20 mile (16-32 kph) area north of Atlanta, nine died in the Henderson Mountain housing project called Boulevard Homes was "pretty well destroyed" and, perhaps, evolution toward a bipolar - left-right - universe.
