Majority of Freshmen Did Not Vote Preferentially in Election

Election, from Page 1

September 27, 1994

said. The candidates who did not win can still participate in other UA positions and committees, Sankaran said.

The newly elected officers are already making plans for the year.

"I hope everyone gets off to a good year, and I'm sure Jessica and I will be getting back to everyone in the freshmen class about projects that we'll be planning," Roulette said. Roulette said that if any freshmen have suggestions, they can send him electronic mail.

Yo and Yu said that they are working on different fund-raisers and study breaks, and they "definitely want to continue the 'Screw Your Roommate' Dance."

"My main position is to get some fund-raisers going," Chan said. He is open for suggestions from his classmates, and he is going to look at how other MIT activities do fund-raising.

"For the president and vice president races, "most of the ballots ended up being nonpreferential," Sankaran said. "The majority of people only ranked one person on their ballot for these positions, he said.

The UA uses the system of preferential voting in elections, Sankaran said. In preferential voting, each voter ranks their choices for a certain position instead of selecting just one candidate, he said. When officials are tallying the votes they go through rounds. Whoever has the fewest number of votes in the round gets dropped, and "their votes are divvied up among the other candidates," Sankaran explained.

Sankaran speculated that if some candidates had received more second place votes they might have ended up winning the race.

Though "the ballots said rank [your choices] in preferential order from one to eight," Sankaran is not sure if freshmen understood the concept of preferential voting.

"It kind of makes you think that candidates should campaign for second place votes," Sankaran said.

The deadline for filing to run for either the secretary or publicity chair positions was extended until 5 p.m. on Tuesday because no one was running for either office.

Though candidates who were running in highly-competitive races also had the option to switch and run for one of these positions, only new candidates decided to run for these offices, Sankaran said.

Find out what's really going on at MIT...

Write news for The Tech.

Call x3-1541 and ask for Soo, Ramy, or Dan.

Looking for a good exchange rate to study abroad next semester?

3.75 GPA and up=$1,500 Scholarship
3.50 GPA and up=$1,000 Scholarship

Syracuse University sponsors study abroad sites in:

Florence, Italy
London, England
Harare, Zimbabwe

Syracuse University Division of International Programs Abroad
119 Euclid Avenue, Syracuse, New York 13244-4170
1-800-235-3472 315-443-3471

Syracuse, New York
London, England
Harare, Zimbabwe

SU credit
Field trips/Traveling seminars
Internships
Study for a semester, year or summer
Courses taught in English and in host country language.

Take a Trip Around the World. Tonight.

GRUNDIG TRAVELER II
MULTIBAND RADIO
$99.99

With 5 shortwave bands, plus AM/FM and travel alarm.

Come and get it!