Is an easy-to-use, mouse-driven user interface for searching online bibliographic databases. It is available on Athena workstations and currently offers access to Medline and the Elsevier Materials Science Journals database. The Elsevier database provides images of journal articles. Work is underway for the addition of other databases. Powerful search capabilities, good online help, and print/E-mail functions make Willow an attractive choice over other access to databases. Work was developed at the University of Washington and adapted to the MIT environment by Information Systems and Library Systems staff. Comments and suggestions are welcome as we plan Willow’s development at MIT <willow@mit.edu>. To access Willow from an athena account: athena% add library willow
