Mighty Joe Moon enlightens through illustration

Grant Lee Phillips' latest work, Mighty Joe Moon, is, I think, the most "natural" album I've ever heard. Mighty Joe Moon gently questions our material and inhuman ambitions, and attempts to enlighten us by illustration instead of coercion. This is the kind of pop music that threatens to bring us all together by entreating us to remove the fences we selfishly build among us. The lyrics and music seem to be about inhuman ambitions, and attempts to enlighten us by illustration instead of coercion.

We need someone with the confidence of a surgeon, the dedication of a marathoner and the courage of an explorer.

We need someone to fill a unique job opening. Someone to spend two years in another country. To live and work in another culture. To learn a new language and acquire new skills.

We need someone who wants to help improve other people's lives. Someone who wants to help. Someone who wants to help improve other people's lives.

Who's anxious to build lasting friendships. To gain memories and experience that will last a lifetime. And a sense of fulfillment few jobs can match.

We need a Peace Corps volunteer. Interested? The first step is easy. Call 1-800-424-8580, Ext. 93.

Peace Corps. The toughest job you'll ever love.
